APPEALS.

COOMBE LYING-IN HOSPITAL, DUBLIN.

URGENT APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

The Coombe Lying-in Hospital, one of the oldest and one of the greatest Charities in Dublin, is urgently in need of funds to keep its doors open, and to continue its beneficent work.

In recent years the demands on the services of the Hospital have increased, while its Income, owing to the many calls on public charity, has been growing less, with the result that the Board of the Hospital have, year after year, been faced with a growing deficiency.

The accommodation of our Bankers has hitherto enabled us to carry on without a special appeal to the public; but the Hospital Account is now overdrawn by more than £7,000, to meet which the securities held by the Trustees are now valued at only £3,410, and the Bankers have given notice that they cannot further honour cheques which would increase the over-draft, and have required that the existing advance be reduced.

The Board, therefore, recognise that it will not be possible to keep the Hospital open without more support from the public. Indeed, its doors would not now be open were it not that Members of the Board have given the Bankers a personal guarantee for a further overdraft. This state of things cannot continue. They, therefore, most earnestly appeal to the charitable public to come to their assistance.

No one can picture the blessings conferred by such an Institution as this, situated in the midst of the poorest populations in the city; or the suffering that would result if its usefulness were curtailed owing to any lack of means to carry it on in its present high state of efficiency.

The doors of the Hospital are ever open for the reception of urgent cases, and no one has hitherto been refused assistance.

The work of the Hospital will be better appreciated when it is realised that poor women and infants were treated during the past year as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Patients admitted in the Labour Wards | 597 |
| Do. admitted in the Gynæcological Wards | 439 |
| Total admissions to Hospital | 1,036 |
| Extern Maternity Department attended at their own homes | 1,460 |
| Attended at Special and General Dispensaries | 10,024 |
| Total cases attended through Hospital, Extern Midwifery, and Dispensary Branches in one year to 31st March, 1918 | 12,520 |

In their last Annual Report to His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, the "Board of Superintendence of Dublin Hospitals" pay the following tribute to this Institution:—

"The benefit rendered by this Hospital to the very poor and densely populated District is very great. Its usefulness and efficiency increase year by year, and we are glad to report that, notwithstanding the increased cost of living, the average annual cost per bed has fallen to £85 in 1918.

"After a most careful inspection of every corner of this Hospital, we one and all came away expressing high satisfaction with what we saw."

Patients from the Country avail of the Gynæcological Wards and benefit by the skilled treatment therein afforded, and it is hoped, therefore, this appeal may be responded to from all parts of Ireland.

There may be some who will not be able to respond to this appeal as liberally as they wish. The smallest assistance will be most gratefully received. It is hoped that some will become annual subscribers and collectors assisting in this way.

A friend has come forward with an offer that, provided a sum of at least £2,000 is raised by this appeal, he will add a sum equal to fifty per cent. of the amount subscribed, limiting his subscription to £2,000. The Board of the Hospital, therefore, issue it in the hope that the charitable public will enable them to avail themselves of this offer.

The appalling ravages of the war must bring home to all of us the vital importance of preserving child life.

Signed on behalf of the Board of Guardians and Directors—

WELLINGTON DARLEY, Violet Hill, Bray, Co. Wicklow.
WM. M. MURPHY, Dartry, Upper Rathmines, Co. Dublin.
W. H. F. VERSCHOYLE (Hon. Sec.), Woodley, Dundrum, Co. Dublin.

SUBSCRIPTIONS MAY BE SENT TO EITHER OF THE ABOVE, or to THE REGISTRAR, at the Hospital, where they will be duly acknowledged:—

BE SURE that you give to your general health its proper share of attention. It is rather a curious fact that while many people appear to manifest the greatest concern over their personal comfort, they are guilty of considerable carelessness concerning what is really life's chief asset—their general health. The tendency of the times is to make heavy—sometimes excessive—demands upon the physical powers, with the inevitable result that the system gets run-down. Days like the present are exceedingly trying and the bodily powers are liable to suffer from the strain. You will be well advised if YOU TAKE steps to combat the earliest manifestations of indisposition. Ills multiply—ailments develop—by neglect. Such symptoms as sick headache, biliousness, constipation, flatulence, heartburn, and loss of energy are indications of an over-worked or unsettled condition of the digestive organs. One of the best medicines to take under such circumstances is Beecham's Pills. In the treatment of disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels there is no other proprietary medicine which has had such a lengthy and successful record as BEECHAM'S PILLS. Portrait of Mr. GEORGE BALLANTYNE, of 117 Halliburton place, Galashiels, who writes:

"Several years ago a dog bit me on the leg, and each succeeding year the sore broke out afresh, and sores also broke out at other parts of my leg. I tried various remedies, and had the Doctor attending me, but all to no purpose. In April, 1915, I started to take Clarke's Blood Mixture. With the first bottle I felt much improved in my general health while the swelling in my leg had decreased. This encouraged me to persevere till June of the same year, by which time I had taken nine bottles, with the happy result that I was able to resume my work, since when I have not been a day off. It is now over eight months since, and there is no sign of the trouble returning. The swellings have entirely disappeared, and I feel like a different person."

Clarke's Blood Mixture, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in all cases of Eczema, Scrofula, Scurvy, Bad Legs, Abscesses, Boils, Pimples, Sores and Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Gout, etc. Pleasant to take, and free from anything injurious. Ask for and see you get

Clarke's Blood Mixture "EVERYBODY'S BLOOD PURIFIER." Of all Chemists and Stores, 2/9 per Bottle. (4)

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS CO., CLONDALKIN, ASK EVERYBODY TO

SAVE WASTE PAPER

It is not only the patriotic duty but is in the individual interests of every man, woman, and child in the country to collect every available Scrap of Paper, so that the Irish Paper Mills may be kept running through this time of shortage of paper-making materials.

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS COMPANY guarantee that packs will be supplied and maximum prices fixed by the Government paid by their Contractors, Messrs. M. Duan and Co.

BANKS, PUBLIC OFFICES, and BUSINESS FIRMS having large stocks of old paper should get rid of it now, as the shortage of paper-making material is becoming very acute, and the problem is to keep Mills running.

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS COMPANY are in a position to guarantee the destruction and repulping of ALL grades of paper, and their contractors will, if necessary, in the case of private documents, prepare the waste paper on the seller's premises and have it taken direct to the Mills and destroyed under the eye of a representative of the seller.

The minimum quantity of waste paper which can be taken in any one consignment is one cwt. Carriage on smaller quantities would be prohibitive.

Send samples, and highest prices will be quoted per return, and cash remitted promptly on receipt of goods.

Your Aim—Economy

WHAT TOILET SOAP DO YOU USE?

Of course, this is one of the small items of household management, but an important one.

Particularly in these times you require a soap which, while not expensive, can be absolutely relied upon; and all you lay out on Toilet Soap should be invested in the Soap itself, but not in expensive boxes and wrappers—pretty to look at but of no practical use.

You must have a soap which will suit you, which will not act harshly on the skin, but is emollient and fragrant.

We claim all these points for

BARRINGTON'S "COMPLEXION TOILET SOAP"

We guarantee the soap to be made from choicest materials only, and to contain nothing injurious to the most tender skin. The series comprises an assortment of perfumeries which gives the widest choice.

THE SINKING OF THE LEINSTER.

HOW THE POSTAL OFFICIALS WERE LOST.

In the King's Bench Division, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Madden, in the matter of the goods of Patrick Peter Murphy, deceased, late of Iona road, Glasnevin, Dublin, Mr. Charles Murphy (instructed by Messrs. T. T. Mecredy and Son) applied on behalf of Mrs. May Esther Murphy, widow of the deceased, for an order that the death of her husband by drowning when the Irish mail boat Leinster was sunk in the Irish Sea, on October 10th, might be presumed, and that she might be at liberty to swear that he died on October 10th, and to apply for probate of his will, dated November 29th, 1911, in which she was named as sole executrix. Counsel said that Mr. Murphy was one of the Post Office staff, of whom there were twenty-two, on board the Leinster. There was an affidavit from Mr. John Joseph Higgins, of Prospect square, Glasnevin, the only survivor of the Post Office officials, stating:—"I was one of the Postal staff on the Irish mail packet Leinster at the time she was sunk in the Irish Sea. The staff of twenty-two officials, including Patrick Peter Murphy, went on board the mail boat at Kingstown that morning, and when the mails were all on board the twenty-two officials went to their allotted positions. The post office was about forty feet long and about fifteen feet wide, and was situated to the bow of the Leinster, partly below the water-line. In order to get into such office it was necessary to descend from the main deck by a ladder of about 20 steps, which led from the main deck to the roof of the post office, and from this a flight of about 14 stairs led to the centre of the floor of the post office. On the morning of the disaster I was working beside Patrick Peter Murphy and a third official named Jennings Atwool. The three of us were working at registered letters in a small office, which was partitioned off in a corner of the post office. When the first torpedo hit the bow of the mail boat it penetrated the port, or left-hand side, of the bow, burst with a terrific noise inside, and blew a large piece out of the opposite side of the bow of the mail boat. It left two sides of the post office open to the sea, and wrecked the interior. All lights were extinguished by the explosion, and we were left in the dark, while the sea water was rushing into the post office. I called out to Mr. Murphy that we were torpedoed, and to come out with me, but he appeared to be dazed by the shock, and I do not know if he heard or understood what I said in the noise and confusion. There was not a moment to be lost, as the post office was rapidly filling up with sea water, so I partly swam and partly scrambled the best way I could through the rush of water and bundles of newspapers and débris, which were washed into a heap on the floor of the post office. When I got to the centre of the room I found that the stairs had been blown away, but, by such light as came down from the deck, I saw the electric wires hanging down from the roof. With their help I clambered up to the roof of the post office, and then up the ladder to the main deck. When I reached it I had to get a life-jacket. I put on my life-jacket, and this was less than two minutes after the first torpedo had struck the mail boat. In that short interval I saw that the post office was completely filled with the inrush of sea water, and it was overflowing through the opening in the roof of the post office. I then saw John Ledwidge, another Post Office official, struggling in the water at the opening. I helped him on deck, and then saw Thomas Bolster, another postal official, who had also escaped from the post office, but I do not know how. He told me that his leg was broken, and he was badly hurt internally. John Ledwidge left us, and went towards the stern of the mail boat, and I never saw him again; but I was told that he reached a raft, and died on it, after about an hour's exposure. Thomas Bolster crossed the rail at the side of the mail boat, and slid down a rope, intending to reach a lifeboat alongside, but he missed the boat and fell into the sea, and I saw him drifting away on his back in the water. I never saw him again. I then went over the rail of the mail boat, and, with the help of a rope, I got into the lifeboat alongside, in which there were about 25 people, and almost immediately afterwards the lifeboat had to get clear of the mail boat, which was sinking, as the result of the second torpedo, which hit her in the centre, and appeared to break her in two. Just before she sank I saw Albert M'Donnell, another postal official, on the deck of the mail boat, but he went down with the ship, and I never saw him again."

Mr. Justice Madden, in granting the application, said that it was a clear narrative, and accounted for the fact that so many of the postal officials were lost.

THE MALSTERS AND BARLEY ORDER.

In the Nisi Prius Court, Dublin, yesterday, Mr. Justice Moore, who was appointed by the Lord Chief Justice to arbitrate in the matter of the Barley Order, 1918, with respect to the compensation to be paid to Irish malsters in respect of the prices allowed for barley requisitioned under the Order, had a preliminary discussion on the subject with the representatives of the parties interested. Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Casey, Clay, and Collins), appeared for the Irish Malsters' Association and Mr. Henry, K.C., M.P. (instructed by the same solicitors) appeared for Messrs. Ussher and Co., Ltd. The Ministry of Food Department was not represented. It was stated, however, that Sir Walter Roffey, who had the matter in charge in London, was ill, but that any arrangement that the judge might make would be carried out by the Department. Mr. Justice Moore said that he really had nothing before him so far. There must be a submission, or a summons originating the proceedings, the procedure in this country being governed by a Statute of William and the Common Law Procedure Act. He thought that there should be a submission here to start with, and he suggested that Mr. Collins, solicitor, who had carriage, should prepare a submission in the matter (such as his lordship had drafted), and have it made a rule of Court. His lordship would then arrange about fixing the time and place of the arbitration sittings. Counsel agreed to the suggestion, which they said would be carried out.

The operas will be produced under the controlling direction of Mrs. Carl Rosa and Mr. Alfred Van Noorden, with Arthur Winckworth and Charles Victor as controlling directors. The programme at the Theatre Royal Hippodrome next week is headed by "The Cyclones" (their Show), in an original artistic repertoire. Other attractions include J. H. At the Queen's Theatre next week another of Ira Allen's enterprises will be presented in the form of T. Morton Powell's play, "The Girl Without a Home." The play will be presented twice nightly—at 6.30 and 8.30 p.m.—and will be comprised in three acts entitled: (1) "The Snare in the Grass"; (2) "A Fatal Choice"; (3) "Run to Earth." The principal artists include Mr. Breffni O'Rorke, as Dudley Grey, a gambler, swindler, and roue; Mr. Dermot McCarthy, as Harold Arnold; Miss Moira Breffni, as Nan, a girl who can use her fists; and Miss Nancy Doe, as Cora Castle.

Next week "The King of Dublin" Company will pay a return visit to the Empire Theatre, when its 100th performance will take place on Monday evening. The success achieved when here recently will probably be repeated next week, and it is good to notice that the full original cast is available, including, amongst others, the following:—Muriel Munro, Bridie Moloney, Trixie Jordan, Tom Dunne, George Casey, Harry O'Donovan, Brian Herbert, etc.

The bill at the Tivoli Theatre next week is headed by "The Dixie Minstrels," in mirth and melody, presented by Alf. E. Dodds. Hamilton, T. Morrow, B. Purdy, T. Snowdon, with Jack Spottiswoode as interlocutor. The programme also includes Raeduo, in a musical act featuring Anna Rae, R.C.M.L., the famous Scottish violinist, assisted by Margaret Laurie, soprano; Charlie Robinson, baritone, comedian and raconteur; Edith Allen, vocalist; Newsome and Sullo, comedians and dancers; C. # SPORTING NEWS.

LEOPARDSTOWN MEETING YESTERDAY.

The miserable weather conditions had a serious effect on the attendance yesterday; but the sport, if not particularly high-class, proved quite interesting, and there were plenty of runners. Holy Mac, who finished third in the Irish Cesarewitch last week, and Sikh left off in most demand for the Handicap Hurdle, for which Old Clifton, Arcadian Maid, and King Michael were also well backed. The favourite was beaten at the last flight of timber, where King Michael looked all over the winner, but he failed to resist the challenge of Sikh, who did not score out of his turn, this being his first bracket since early in 1917. Gay Bachelor was always a sound favourite for the Paddock Plate, and he accounted for everything except Wild Wheat, who now made some amends for several disappointing displays this season, but she only fetched 55 sovs. when submitted for auction.

A better class contested the Carrickmines Plate, in which Tom Powrie, who headed the quotations, did not seem to relish the heavy going, and, after Le Connetable and Sphagnum had shown prominently for six furlongs, the lightly-weighted Golden Melody drew out with the race in hand, and made light of the efforts of Main Royal to catch him. They were a moderate lot in the Shankill Selling Plate, for which The Squire was installed favourite, and, though tiring very fast in the closing stages, he just lasted long enough to keep Navan Boy and Gilt Edge at bay.

The Bray Plate also furnished an exhilarating finish, in which Aquafortis caught and beat the unlucky Double Dew in the last few strides, and then survived an objection formulated on the grounds of bumping. He was in receipt of 2st. from the second, and at last compensated his owner for many failures. Another hitherto disappointing horse in King Carnival got home in the Manor Plate, but it was only after a very exciting set-to with Santa Minna that he won, his rider, Mr. F. Darling, fairly holding his own with W. Barrett in a ding-dong tussle all the way up the straight. Details:—

IRISH LABOUR CONGRESS.

SEAMEN'S DELEGATES EXPELLED.

WITHDRAWAL OF PARLIAMENTARY CANDIDATES.

"CONGRATULATIONS TO RUSSIAN COMRADES."

A special session of the Irish Trades Union Congress and Labour Party was held in the Mansion House, Dublin, yesterday, for the purpose of formulating a new constitution and discussing the question of Parliamentary representation. Mr. Thomas Cassidy, Chairman of the National Executive, presided over a large attendance.

Mr. Foran (Irish Transport Workers' Union) said that before the business of the Congress was proceeded with he desired to bring forward a resolution expelling from the Conference the delegates from the Sailors' and Firemen's Union.

The Chairman said that the Congress was a special one, called by resolution of the Waterford Congress, and the delegates who were represented at Waterford had a right to be present there.

Mr. Foran—Yes; but circumstances have arisen since the Waterford Congress to justify me in moving this resolution. (Hear, hear, and applause.)

The Chairman said that he did not know the matters to which Mr. Foran referred.

Mr. Foran said that he could give reasons for the resolution. The Congress was pledged to the International——

Mr. Egan (Cork) intervening, made an appeal to the delegates to allow the Congress to run smoothly at this present juncture.

Mr. Foran said that he would not sacrifice fundamental principles in the interest of smoothness. He did not know that the Sailors' and Firemen's Union would be represented until he saw the list of delegates. The Secretary of the International Congress asked for deeds, not words, and they in Ireland asked for deeds, not words, and they ought to enter their most emphatic protest against the bounders who were playing the game of the international capitalists to prevent the working classes of the world from meeting at the Peace Conference. They in Ireland should not countenance these people being represented amongst them, and it was for that reason he proposed that the representatives of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union be expelled.

Mr. Coates, in seconding the motion, said that Havelock Wilson and his gang were simply playing the game of the British Government in stopping the delegates from going to France. If they did not protest against these delegates being allowed to be present it meant that they were countenancing their action in trying to prevent an International Labour Congress meeting.

The Chairman expressed the view that the action of the Seamen and Firemen's Union was deserving of condemnation.

Mr. Bennett (Sailors' and Firemen's Union) said it was a fact that their members refused to carry Mr. Henderson and Mr. Huysman, and he could produce evidence to show that Huysman did not represent the working people of Belgium. That was the reason why the sailors refused to carry him. Along with their determination to boycott the Germans for their atrocities on sea and land—they had another instance of these atrocities at their very door recently, when they lost some of their own comrades—he noticed that some who had been the enemies of the seamen at the Waterford Congress had now become their friends. Mr. Foran, for instance, was one of the treasurers of the fund in aid of the victims of the Leinster disaster.

Mr. Foran said that that had nothing to do with the question at issue.

Mr. Bennett stated that he did not ask the Congress to keep them in it.

Mr. W. R. Campbell (Belfast) supported the resolution. The seamen refused also to carry Mr. Henderson and Mr. Bowerman, and did they not represent the views of the workers in Great Britain? ("No.")

Mr. Wm. O'Brien asked if the seamen ever refused to take one of the international capitalists who were responsible for the war.

Mr. Kelly (Postmen's Federation) mentioned that the seamen also refused to carry their General Secretary to a congress in America.

Mr. Logue (Derry), on a point of order, protested that any delegates who had been present at Waterford were entitled to be present now, as this was a continuation of the Waterford Congress.

The Chairman ruled that this was a special congress.

The motion was carried, amid applause, by 99 to 10 votes.

The delegates of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union then left the room.

THE SINKING OF THE LEINSTER.

The Chairman said that before proceeding with the business of the Congress he desired to refer to the terrible tragedy recently enacted close to their shores, in which the Labour movement lost two of its best known members in the persons of Alderman McCarron, of Derry, and Mr. Patrick Lynch, of Cork. The lives of the members of unions affiliated to the Congress had been sacrificed at the post of duty. The sinking of the Leinster caused a thrill of horror among them all, and the Congress demanded that a searching inquiry into all the circumstances attending the sinking of the mail boat should be held. (Hear, hear.) (The members of the Congress here rose to signify their condolence with the families of the members lost in the mail boat disaster.)

LABOUR AND PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Thomas Johnston, in stating the views of the Executive on election policy, said that the main purpose of the Irish Labour Party was not the election of one or two, or two dozen members of Parliament, but the building up of an organised political labour consciousness in this country, definitely democratic, not on a single issue, but on every democratic issue that arose. Many things had happened since the manifesto was issued by the Executive on 14th September. Circumstances which had happened during the last fortnight had compelled the Executive to review the whole position, and he was now asked to read the reasoned declaration of the Executive for their confirmation. The declaration stated that the unexpected call for an armistice on the part of the Central Powers had brought about a crisis which was not expected to develop until the "Peace Election" was at hand. In the light of the new circumstances the National Executive recommended the withdrawal of all Labour candidates at the coming election. (Applause.) They did so in the hope that the democratic demand for self-determination, to which the Irish Labour Party gave their unqualified adherence, would thereby obtain the freest chance of expression at the polls. They would thus show that while the other political parties were prepared to divide the people in their effort to obtain power, the Labour Party was the only party which was prepared to sacrifice party in the interests of the nation. They would thereby demonstrate to the peoples of all nations as emphatically as peaceful means would allow, that when other small nations were asserting their freedom Ireland, too, demanded the rights of a free nation. It was the object of the Executive to prepare the way for an active and possibly a dominant Labour Party in Ireland in the future. (Applause.)

LABOUR AND SINN FEIN.

Mr. T. McPartlin (Dublin), in seconding the motion, said he had no consideration for any political party, but was solely influenced by the amount of good that could be done by keeping the workers united in the coming fight for Ireland. Some of the delegates might be steeped in political movements, but the movement that they could support was the workers' movement. It might be said that there was collusion between Labour and a political party. So far as he knew there had been no collusion with any political party, nor was there likely to be in the future. A pledge of one political party had been shown to him, but he refused to sign it. (Applause.) Possibly some people, the suspicious and disappointed ones, might think that they were out for £400 a year. They were not, but if they were they would probably have an unopposed election in any political party. Every political party was out for graft. Carson, down North, was now patting the workers on the back. It was the same with the U.I.L. Party, and it would be the same with the Sinn Fein Party, and if the Sinn Fein Party became the dominant power Labour would have to fight a corrupt party, as it did in 1914. It would be under the political influence of the capitalist class, and it would probably do as the others did, and invite foreigners to exploit the country because labour was cheap. Labour had no fear of any political party.

Mr. Rimmer supported the recommendation, as it contained the germs of statesmanship.

Mr. Campbell (Belfast) said that he could not draw a subtle distinction between a war and a peace election. He thought that the motion was going back on the policy hitherto followed by organised workers. It was too big a somersault for him to appreciate.

Mr. Carpenter (Dublin) agreed with the recommendation, as he believed that the Irish workers were not sufficiently educated in justifying the Executive in running candidates on its present constitution.

Mr. Good (Cork) declared that, so far as he knew, the workers would prefer to follow Carson if he declared for Irish independence, than to send Mr. O'Brien, their secretary, to represent them in the British Parliament.

Mr. Cathal Shannon hoped that there would be no exploitation within or without the Congress of the one big man in the Labour movement. There were strong reasons why the decision of the Executive should not be adopted, and he for one would oppose it. There were the Labour reasons, the national reasons, and, to his mind, the greatest reasons, the international ones.

RUSSIA AND IRELAND.

Those with him who had endeavoured to secure international effort on the side of Ireland had the hearty support of the Russian people. The Russian Government was the only one that had sincerely and whole-heartedly called for self-determination for Ireland. The British, American, and German Governments did not do so because they were capitalistic. By adopting the motion they were cutting away one-third of their representation on the International Union and fully one-third of their moral strength.

Mr. T. Murphy (Dublin) suggested that the matter should be left to local option.

Mr. Hewson (Cork) said that they had no guarantee that Ireland was going to be represented at the Peace Conference. The workers who were prepared to fight for a political candidate when one of their own was in the field were not worthy of the trades union movement.

Mr. Johnston, in reply, said that the Executive were perfectly certain that the decision arrived at six weeks ago was right up to a fortnight ago, but the sudden developments in the international situation, and the prospects of a peace election, had altered the circumstances so much that they were now satisfied that the decision now submitted to the Congress was the right one. There were certain elements in the Government of Ireland who were rubbing their hands with glee at the prospect of Labour candidates at the General Election preventing a clear expression of the opinion of the people on the question of self-determination.

The motion was carried by 96 votes to 23.

Mr. Cathal Shannon submitted the report of the Executive on the international situation. In welcoming peace Irish Labour rejoiced that the holocaust of the last few years was about to cease. In welcoming peace Irish Labour again proclaimed its adherence to the Russian formula of a peace of the peoples, on the basis of a genuine democracy, the real self-determination of all subject peoples, no indemnities, and no undemocratic or secret treaties. They protested against the capitalist outlawry of the Soviet Republic of Russia, and called upon the workers under the governments sharing in this crime to compel evacuation of the occupied territory of the republic. The Executive "renews its welcome and congratulations to its Russian comrades, who for twelve months have exercised that political, social, and economic freedom towards which Irish workers, in common with their fellows in other lands, still strive and aspire."

Mr. T. Foran moved the adoption of the report, with the following addendum:—

That this Congress instructs the National Executive to approach the Lord Mayor of Dublin with the request that he should take such steps as he deems advisable to call together a special National Conference, or to augment the present Anti-Conscription Conference, for the purpose of giving national expression to the Irish demands for self-determination in the same manner as the Mansion House Conference defined Ireland's national will on that issue.

The report was unanimously adopted.

The Congress adjourned until 9.30 this morning.

ROYAL IRISH AUTOMOBILE CLUB. SUMMER CLUB FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

AT EARLSFORT TERRACE GARDENS
(By kind permission of Viscount Iveagh, K.P.),
28th MAY–25th SEPTEMBER, 1918.
SUMMER CLUB FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS.
Chairman: EDWARD WHITE.
Hon. Secretary: WALTER SEXTON.
Hon. Secretary of the Ladies Assisting: MRS. DE RENZY.
Secretary: H. S. CHAYTOR.
Representing the Golfing Union of Ireland: GEORGE PRICE, LL.D.
Representing the Rotary Club: J. L. STEWART.

Grateful thanks are due to the Viscount Iveagh, K.P., who so kindly, for the third summer in succession, granted the use of his gardens and court-yard for the Wounded Soldiers' Club. That a larger number of wounded men did not avail themselves of his hospitality is due to the comparative emptiness of the Dublin hospitals, and also to the fact that the Club is now only open four days a week instead of six, as in previous summers.

A large number of golf clubs, and other clubs and associations, as well as private friends, provided all but ten of the daily entertainments. In this connection special thanks are due to the Rotary Club, and also to Portmarnock Golf Club for their unfailing kindness.

The tea arrangements were most efficiently carried out by Mrs. de Renzy and her staff of lady helpers, Mrs. Mordaunt Richards kindly taking charge during Mrs. de Renzy's absence.

A number of gentlemen, members of the R.I.A.C., and others, attended each day to assist in the organisation of the games and competitions, etc. Members of the clubs and associations and those entertaining also helped in this way.

PARENT TYRE COMPANY.

Presiding at the meeting of the Parent Tyre Co., Ltd., on Thursday, Sir Arthur Du Cros said that the accounts reflected for the first time the result of the change made in the company's investments a little over a year ago, when it was decided to sell the Ordinary Shares then held in the Dunlop Rubber Company at £4 per share, and the royalty agreement for £540,000. The major part of the proceeds were applied in the acquisition of 3,000,000 7 per cent. Cum. C Preference Shares of the Dunlop Rubber Company at the price of 18s. 6d. each. As the value of 7 per cent. Dunlop Preference Shares could safely be taken at 21s. or 21s. 3d. on the basis of the market price of the 6 per cent. B Preference Shares of that company, it might fairly be claimed that the capital thus re-invested would show an appreciation of approximately £250,000 when the transaction was finely completed. The change over of investments had, moreover, resulted in a net increase of profits last year of £61,000 to a total of £176,000, the highest profit made by the company since the year 1910. As that income was derived from investments yielding assured and cumulative returns it might be regarded as a permanent increase. Beyond those advantages there had also been a very considerable appreciation in the market value of this company's shares. The price of the Deferred Shares when the negotiations for the realisation of their old investments commenced was approximately 27s., whereas on the publication of the balance sheet they were quoted at 6[illegible]s. 6d., at which they yielded on the dividend and bonus recommended a return of nearly 7 per cent. Even at that price they could not be said to have reached their full development. It was still open to the directors to engage in active business operations in a suitable direction, and the Board had little doubt but that the great resources of the company could one day be turned to useful advantage. The business of the Dunlop Rubber Company, from which they derived most of their income, continued to enjoy great prosperity.

The report was adopted.

We are Buyers of Barley and Oats (FOR ALL PURPOSES). OFFERS SHALL BE ESTEEMED. Sellers of Seed Wheat Home and Imported. SAMPLES AND OFFERS ON APPLICATION. Gillen, Mackin & Co. 18-24 YORK LANE, BELFAST. Telephone No. 1695. Telegrams, "Demand," Belfast.

MARKET REPORTS.

GRAIN.—DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Friday. Weather of a mild, but wet and unsettled character. Market presents an idle and featureless disposition throughout, and any business concluded more or less of a retail nature. In fact, the position with regard to Irish cereals remains as previously reported, the extreme prices demanded by country holders limiting or making business almost impracticable at this end. Oats are automatically 3½d. per barrel dearer this month, maximum now being 28/3 per barrel, except for milling and seed parcels. No alteration in wheat, barley, or rye; in fact, barley is at a fixed price for season, and no official change in Irish wheat is contemplated until first of new year. Foreign produce is restrictive, but control terms remain firm.

MARK LANE, Friday.—English WHEAT in steady demand at regulation prices; whites delivered up 75/0 to 76/6, reds 75/3 to 76/6 per qr. 504 lbs. Foreign grades sparingly offered; all descriptions quoted 84/1½ x.s. FLOUR in good request; Canadian exports patents 50/3 to 51/9 x.w., American 50/3 to 51/9 x.w., English G.R. 44/3 x.w. Grinding BARLEY dull; new native 67/- to 68/- 448lbs. OATS firmly held, and in good demand; native 48/6 to 49/6 336lbs., Canadian 63/6 to 64/6 x.q., Plate 62/6 to 63/6 landed, American white clipped 61/6 to 62/6 x.q. MAIZE nominal; mixed American 94/- to 96/- landed, African 95/- to 99/-, Plate 94/- to 96/- landed.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES (BALTIC), Friday.—WHEAT—Offerings were absorbed at regulation limit. MAIZE firm, but quiet; South African quoted 88/6 to 95/-; American mixed, 90/- to 91/-, and white 92/- to 95/-, with yellow La Plata, 90/- per 480lbs. BARLEY largely nominal; Californian and Oregon, 90/- per 448lbs.; American malting and No. 3 Canada Western, 81/- per 400lbs. OATS steady; American white clipped, 89/- per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—C.i.f. parcels of wheat were traded in to a fair extent at late prices, but maize nominal in the absence of sellers. WHEAT on the spot was in moderate request at late rates. MAIZE—Spot parcels still scarce and nominal. FLOUR—Local milled moved fairly at unchanged prices. BARLEY and RYE FLOUR was released to millers at 44/3 per sack, and American flour to Manchester and other outside distributing agents at official rates. BEANS and PEAS firm, with late prices fully maintained. BARLEY and OATMEAL scarce, and the latter the turn dearer. In wheat parcels, No. 1 Manitoba and No. 2 red American winter afloat (in combination) sold at 80/-, and No. 1 red winter at the same price.

WAKEFIELD, Friday.—Very small attendance, and small supplies of grain, which were eagerly allocated; prices were as fixed by Government. Oats exceedingly scarce. Feeding stuffs of all descriptions also in short supply.

DERBY, Friday.—Very little of anything on offer today; a few samples of wheat changed hands. Oats were in considerable demand, but scarcely any available. A fair quantity of beans were bought at 200/- per quarter (stones on rail).

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Friday.—The situation for potatoes in Dublin remains dull and unchanged, with more than ample supplies coming in to satisfy all requirements. Prices for bulk of stock are around 6/- per cwt., and for occasional parcels of extra nice even run of stuff, 6/6 per cwt. With regard to Irish exports, the main position for potatoes, the recent interchange of views between Irish merchants and growers and the representatives of the Ministry of Food have not developed into anything very definite so far, and it is questionable now from the political turn of affairs whether any real tie will be put upon the insular trade, as Government interest appears to be centred in the exportable surplus of the country's stocks of potatoes, and it seems like that there will be no exportable surplus, owing to the fact that there was 1,000 acres less of potatoes grown this year, and that most districts have suffered more or less from disease in tubers. So far as we can see, any possible shipment will be from Ulster province, as Leinster, Munster, and Connaught will certainly have no exportable surplus; £5 5/- per ton was the rate suggested by the Government representative as the price to be paid the growers at ship's side, but the country's representatives are agitating to raise the price to the same level as that of England. As suggested by our remarks, this is not likely to materialise.

LONDON, Friday.—BUTTER—A further distribution has taken place on the basis of one ounce per head, quality being satisfactory. Control price (home and Colonial)—Wholesale 252/- cwt., retail 2/6 per lb. CHEESE—The recent allotment of American shows excellent quality. A further distribution of British made is expected next week. Control price (all grades)—Wholesale 1/5½ lb., retail 1/8 lb. BACON in fair demand for the reduced quantity of American on offer. Irish is in good demand, and future supplies will depend on killings, also quantity of American available; Canadian No. 1 (44lbs. to 52lbs.) 176/6, clear back 150/-. HAMS in good request, shoulders being mostly on offer. Long and short cuts, also picnics, very scarce; Canadian long cut green 170/-, do. short cut green 170/-, American long cut green 170/-, do. short cut green 170/-, shoulders square 143/6, New York 140/-, picnics 119. LARD—American offerings are readily absorbed; Irish bladders, seconds, and kegs 162/- ex factory, American pails 158. EGGS—Market firmer on the week on short supplies; English new laid 70/- to 72/6, Irish 65/- to 66/- per 120.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—BACON—There was again a firm feeling for all American descriptions of bacon here to-day, though the allotments were made somewhat less sparingly, being still from stocks, and included a small percentage of Cumberlands, along with the other selections. Buyers were anxious to obtain anything available and a steady clearance was effected at the maximum rates. Shoulders met a good demand. HAMS continued in very limited supply; Canadian sides met a good inquiry, and the few bales of Irish offered were speedily picked up. LARD on the spot held steady. CHEESE continued to go steadily into consumption at 1/5 per lb. allowed to retailers. BUTTER scarce, a further allocation being made to provide for the rationing scheme of one ounce per head per week. EGGS still scarce and hardening, Irish Leas being now held at 58/6 to 60/- per 120.

JAMES J. HALPIN, Wholesale Bacon Merchant, 18-19 Thomas st., Dublin. Telegrams—"Middles." 'Phone 1716. Specialising in O'Mara's, Ltd., products.—(Advt.)

HALSTON STREET POULTRY AND GAME, Friday.—Week-end supplies of poultry of all descriptions were very disappointing, being small, and values consequently showed a tighter tendency. Everything offered was quickly placed at previous tip-top rates. Rabbits are still in rather limited supply, although the weather is against anything short of strictly prime and fresh. Hares dearer; game and wild birds selling much as previous day. [illegible]

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Friday.—A fairly good supply of fruit, and a moderate offering of vegetables on market. Trade throughout ruled slack, and prices slumpy. [illegible]

DUBLIN FISH, Friday.—There were practically no steamers in with fish to-day, and very moderate supplies of fish, and these were practically but country districts. There were four chests lobsters forward; about 131 boxes mackerel, four or six boxes of country fish, and four from Howth. The market ruled very flat and prices low owing to the inferior quality of the fish. Average run of this morning's prices:—Best lobsters, 25/- to 40/-, average per 15, seconds, 15/- to 17/6, and smalls, 6/- to 10/- per 15; prawns, 5/- to 6/- per 4 and 8; cod fish, 45/- to 50/- per box; ray, 10/- to 20/-; mackerel, from 5/- to 10/- per box; other oddments of market scarcely worthy of quotation.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Friday.—Supply liberal, fair trade. Soles and slips, 2/6½; turbot and brill, 1/9; eels, 1/6; cured haddocks, 1/2 to 1/4 per lb.; plaice, 14/- to 15/-; halibut, 22/6; lemon soles, 18/-; whitebait, 16/- live cod, 11/3; mackerel, 5/- to 6/-; whiting, 6/-; gurnet, 11/-; ling, 9/-; haddocks, 9/-; skate, 12/-; toker, 9/-; bream, 11/-; mussels, 6/6; fresh and salted herrings, 4/6 to 5/-; bloaters, 5/- to 6/-; kippers, 5/- to 10/- per stone.

GRIMSBY FISH, Friday.—Good supply, haddocks predominating. The demand was easier. Cod, codlings, plaice, and all prime sorts continue scarce and dear. The only classes selling below Control maximum rates were gibbers (heads on), 6/6; kit, 5/-; chats, 2/9 to 3/-; smaller haddocks, 2/-; gurnets, 2/-; small whitings, 5/-; selected, 7/6 per stone.

MANCHESTER, Friday.—Supplies in several sections are more limited than recently. BACON—Irish small supplies arrived, which are very welcome; American Cumberland cut and Wilts. are scarce. HAMS—Small arrivals meet a good inquiry, short cuts and long cuts scarce. LARD—English refined ruled steady, while American is in shorter supply. CHEESE—Distribution of imported proceeding; Cheshire and Lancs. nothing offered. EGGS—Supplies very meagre, prices advancing; Irish, 60/- per 120.

BUTTER AND EGGS.—LITTLE GREEN, Friday.—Supplies of creamery butter still give ample sufficiency for the trade to draw upon, and values take much the same range as recently. Farmers' butter, however, is coming in more freely, and proves harder to cash, with a decidedly weaker undertone in price, following a drop of 4/- per cwt. in Cork this week. Eggs continue in small supply, with prices at new record level, which puts a greater strain than ever on business. Quotations:—Choice selected fresh eggs, in retail parcels, 58/- to 60/- per 120; ordinary case arrivals, 50/- to 56/-, and repacked, 56/6 to 57/6 per 120. Finest creamery butter, 252/- to 256/8 per cwt.; mediums, 246/- to 250/-; other descriptions, 238/- to 245/-; farmers' best butter, 2/0½ to 2/1½; superfine, 2/- to 2/0½ per lb.; other sorts, 1/11 to 2/- per lb., and difficult to clear.

CORK BUTTER, Friday.—Firsts, 227/- per cwt.

MANCHESTER, Friday.—There was a good inquiry under this head on the market. The first allotment of Government butter, consisting of Canadian of fair quality on the new reduced ration of one oz. per head per week, is announced, and the distribution is proceeding steadily.

PRODUCE.—LONDON, Friday.—Sugar market remained unchanged. Honey firm, with sustained inquiries. Coffee—All mild inquiring sorts bring very full rates. Spice and pepper steady. Black Singapore, spot, 1/8½; Tellicherry quoted at 1/10; Aleppo, 1/9½. Zanzibar cloves, 2/3. Pimento, 7d. Nutmegs, 3/4. Ginger steady. Rice, tapioca, and sago in good demand. Menthol quiet, 19/6. Peppermint, 7/-. Rubber quiet—Crepe, spot, sold at 2/3½; sheet, 2/3½.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—COFFEE—The high prices asked check business. RICE—During the week only a small quantity has been allocated by the Royal Commission. LINSEED—Supplies, though fair, are inadequate to completely meet the demand. SAGO FLOUR is idle and scarce. JAPANESE FARINA easier; spot offers at 86/-, and November-January shipment at 82/6 per cwt. c.i.f. PALM KERNELS—Consumers are awaiting fresh supplies. PALM OIL—The supplies continue abundant. RANGOON BEANS—Previous prices are in force—viz., £40 c.i.f., and £40 15/- ex store for hand-picked white. PEAS are unaltered. HARICOT BEANS—Brazilian coloured without change at £56 c.i.f., and £56 15/- per ton ex store. LINSEED OIL is in good demand at 75/- per cwt. for raw naked. COTTON-SEED OIL—There are buyers at the standard price of 75/- per cwt. for refined naked. NITRATE OF SODA is quiet at £26 10/- per ton. TURPENTINE is quoted 105/6 for American and French (half each), no discount. PETROLEUM steady at 1/10½ to 1/11½ per gallon. LARD—Supplies are equal to requirements; fair demand is experienced.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Friday.—Prices continue steady.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Friday.—American Bowed reduced 17 to 18 points, Texas 35 to 36 points, Brazilian reduced 100 points, Indian reduced 10 points. Egyptian not limited demand. Sales 2,000 bales. Nov. 19.95d., Dec. 19.17d., Jan. 18.72d., Feb. 18.21d., March 17.66d.

LONDON METALS MARKET.—COPPER steady, quiet. Standard cash and three months quoted £122 to £122 10/-; electros, £137 to £133; best selected, £135 to £151; strong sheets, £161. LEAD quiet; soft foreign, £29 10/- to £28 10/- net. SPELTER—G.O.B., £54 to £56 c.i.f., as to position. TIN steady, and no transactions took place; standard cash and three months fixed at £333 to £334; settlement price, £334; English ingots, £354.

HAY AND STRAW.—SMITHFIELD, Friday.—Limited supplies of hay and straw on market. Scarcely half a dozen County Dublin loads brought in owing to the holiday, most of the arrivals being from County Meath and Kildare, and of poor and wet description. The wet character of the weather seriously interfered with sales. Anything sweet and in fairly dry order readily realised maximum terms, but other sorts of hay irregular, inside 5/- to 5/9 per cwt.; straw quickly placed at full terms, viz., 4/9 oaten, and 4/- per cwt. wheaten.

LEVER'S PIG AND DAIRY MEAL.—Agent, W. Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin.—(Advt.)

THE IRISH CONVENTION.

(Reviewed by Stephen Gwynn).

The authors of this valuable review of recent facts define (in a prefatory note) their special purpose as being "to place the work of the Irish Convention in its due relation to contemporary events in Irish history." In this they have succeeded up to the point of showing clearly how, under what auspices, and with what omens the Convention came into existence and began its work. If in the rest they have failed, they are not to blame for it. They have written an acutely intelligent and judicial resumé of what happened in Ireland from July, 1916, down to the revolt against conscription in last spring, basing themselves on personal observation to some extent, but mainly on newspaper reports.

For the proceedings of the Convention neither of these resources was available to them. A man who should be asked to construct the history of a session of Parliament from the printed records of its introduced bills, amendments moved, and division lists would be in a sad predicament; yet he would at least have previous experience of the Assembly and its usages for a guide. The Convention was an assembly without precedents or traditions, and it is hard to see how the authors could have proceeded, unless, indeed, like Dr. Johnson in the eighteenth century, they improvised a reconstruction of debates known to them only by gossip, or, in certain cases, utilised the recollection of one who was present. It is to their credit that the historical interest got the better of a natural desire to make a readable book. Their work is of considerable value for reference, and it is a good history of Ireland outside the Convention; but, in so far as it purports to be an account of the Convention itself—how shall these dry bones live?

A single instance may illustrate the complete detachment of these highly intelligent observers, and, a fortiori, of Ireland generally, from what was happening inside the Regent House. A very full and fair account of Thomas Ashe's death and funeral is given in this volume, but there is hardly the least suggestion of its effect upon the Convention's atmosphere. Now, the work of the Convention fell into four stages, of which the first was the period of general discussion, without division being taken upon any issue. The real work of the Convention during that period was the bringing of its members into touch and into sympathy with one another. This process of "exploring each other's minds," as it was called, went on for two months, and it is fair to say that the result of exploration was satisfactory. We got to know each other better, and to like each other better. There was a period when I am certain that almost every man of us not only desired an agreement, but expected one. The hospitality shown to us in Belfast did much to produce this state of mind; our reception in Cork reinforced it. The temper of the debates in Cork was more friendly, more hopeful, and more forthcoming than anything of which we had previously had experience. In upon that came the news of Ashe's death, and immediately the temper of Ireland changed. We saw the results in the streets of Cork, and we felt the results in the Convention. Those Unionists who were doing their best to achieve the objects of the Convention (and they included Ulstermen no less than the Southern group) told us at once that their task was rendered more difficult.

It is ungracious to disparage a book into which so much earnest work has been put, but the fact is that we have not here the truth about the Convention. The results which the Convention achieved were intangible, but they were not the less real; they were present in sensation to every man of us. Our first business was to create an atmosphere in which an agreement would be possible, and it was no small matter that we succeeded in this.

In order to say how much further our effort was successful it would be necessary to write at far greater length than is possible in a review. This much is certain: all that was tangible in what we did was undone by the Government when they introduced conscription. How much remains of the rest, and how far it would be possible to re-create the same atmosphere is a matter for speculation—possibly for hope.

THE LAST OF THE WAR LORDS.

The anonymous author of this book clearly aspires to be the Suetonius of this generation. If it be true that his subject, the Kaiser, is known in learned circles in Germany as Caligula, he follows Suetonius the more closely. We do not believe that he tells as much fiction in so small a compass as the Roman historian tells, but he himself would be the last to claim that everything he writes is true. At any rate, human nature being what it is, he has put together a most interesting and scandalous book. We do not believe, nor does he in his heart, that the Kaiser is an epileptic monster, with a natural taste for blood. We fancy that the world recognises him now as a vain, incompetent creature, who was flattered by the "star part" in the grand conspiracy which the General Staff engineered against the world, and fired the mine which brought down his own house in the general ruin.

If this book is read critically and suspiciously, it will be found to contain a great amount of seasonable information, any number of good stories about great people, and page after page of the table-talk of Wilhelm II. upon all subjects. We shall quote the All-Highest upon Ireland. "There is only one political regimen for a race like the Irish," he declared, "and I possess the secret. I could educate the Irish race in one generation in such a way that they would learn the art of self-government for ever, and be glad to have peace for the rest of their history; but I should take an army corps to Ireland with me to accomplish this. The Irish are the impossible race of the world. They are to England what the Poles are to Central Europe. Their best types are those of Ulster, and these are clearly Scottish. Like the gentlemen from across the Rhine, the Irish are good winners, but bad losers; and the best soldiers are always good losers. That is to say, such soldiers do not know when they have lost."

GUILDHALL MEMORIES.

When a youth of eighteen hurls a ledger at the head of his clerical superior he clearly demonstrates two things—first, that a clerical life is not his métier, and, second, that he will probably make his mark in life for better or worse. Mr. A. G. Temple is evidently a case in point, for there is no doubt that, under his management, the Art Gallery of the Corporation of London at the Guildhall has become one of the most important of national art institutions. Since 1886, when he was appointed Director, fifteen exhibitions have been held at the Guildhall at a total cost to the Corporation of £750.

From the Emperor of Russia and the Shah of Persia downwards there seem to have been few celebrities with whom Mr. Temple has not come in contact, although, naturally, his knowledge of the artistic world is greatest. He writes in a pleasant style, and has many a good story to tell, although a few, like G. A. Sala's remark to Sir John Bennett after his knighthood—"Watchman, what of the night?"—may have worn a little threadbare. Mr. Temple's work in arranging the splendid collection of pictures in the Dublin Exhibition of 1907 will be still fresh in the memory of many in this country. In connection with the Irish Exhibition held in 1904 at the Guildhall he tells a story of the late John O'Leary—"There was a portrait of him by J. B. Yeats in the Exhibition. It was a strikingly handsome face—stern, but with depths of gentleness in it—and, being an excellent piece of painting, I hung it in a good light. On the day in question I was standing near the entrance when my eye was attracted to a man, of striking physique and countenance, ascending the staircase. At the same moment Lady Gregory came to me to beg me to let her introduce me to Mr. O'Leary, the man who had attracted my attention. As I grasped his hand I said, 'Oh, Mr. O'Leary, I have just had the pleasure of hanging you,' and I pointed to his portrait close by. 'Oh, dear me, Mr. Temple,' he said, 'I was once very nearly hanged.'"

Mr. Temple's life-long connection with the London Corporation enables him to give some interesting personal experience of that august body, in addition to his artistic information. His book is better reading than most of its kind, for he is always interesting and never uncharitable.

THE INDESTRUCTIBLE NATION.

We can allow the author of this excellent book the vanity of the title, although his own work goes so far to disprove its truth. "The Indestructible Nation" is, of course, Ireland, and the book is a careful and unconscious proof that, owing to lack of a feudal system, Ireland never was a nation, if we gave the word "nation" any meaning that it has ever borne in Europe. Every remark that we make about this book shall be one of well-merited praise. If we could so ordain, we would introduce it as a class-book into every secondary school in Ireland, Roman Catholic and Protestant. The book is alive and true; the author has done a very considerable thing. Irish history has seemed to many people a history of everlasting squabbles, campaigns, and battles without number and without meaning. Mr. O'Hegarty, to quote the foreword, "views the struggle as a contest between two civilisations, one feudal and one federal, and shows clearly why the Irish federal civilisation, superior spiritually, was overborne by the more aggressively organised English feudal civilisation."

The book is more interesting than a romance, and it is all true. For the first time, in our experience of early Irish history, we can see the wood as well as the trees. The author dislikes English civilisation and is perfectly just to it. His chapters on the Roman Catholic Church in Ireland are quite as fair, and most illuminating. He shows how that Church, before the Reformation, sided with the English in all things, because, naturally enough, it hankered after the feudal organisation, which was ever hateful to the Irish. The story of Tudor times is better told than it has ever been told before. The book grips the reader, no matter in what spirit he approaches it. The style is vivid and the matter excellent; and the whole result is something quite new.

WAR POETRY.

Much war poetry has been written in the last four years; very little will endure. Mr. Brown's book is altogether the most pleasing that we have seen. His poetry is clean and brave, and if his harp has but few notes, each rings true. The sorrow of the war, the good fellows who have gone, the loveliness of England, the hatefulness of the trenches—he sings of these things, and his words are clear and simple and musical. We imagine that he owes most to Henry Newbolt. Again and again we hear a line that we could almost swear that no one else had written. When he leaves the land war and imagines himself on the "Lion," he naturally recalls the elder poet:—

The dawn was white above us, the sea before was grey,
And the mist was lying round us over Queensferry Bay;
The Sunday bells were ringing
And the Sunday folk were singing,
When the wireless started speaking and the Lion sailed away.

There is more than a suggestion of Kipling in his fine poem on submarines:—

Unheard, intangible as air,
Unseen, yet seeing all things plain,
While ships and wild-eyed seamen stare
We pass, and strike, and pass again.

We fancy that Mr. Brown will be the Winchester poet, as Henry Newbolt sits for Clifton.

COUNTRY SIGHTS AND SOUNDS.

These studies of country life, published day by day for twelve months in the Daily Mail, attracted much attention. While they are more attractive when taken one by one than in bulk, the author was quite right to collect and publish them. So long as you do not want to read them all at once, and swallow November on the same evening as April; the book will be an abiding pleasure. We suggest that it is pre-eminently a "bed-book," which you read in bed or in the last half-hour before the fire. The diary is of a country year in the Eastern counties of England. Many people could do this well, if not so well, for our more fortunate Ireland, but no one has ever done it. The author has keen observation and unfailing resources. In fact, there is so much to be seen out-of-doors that ten years would not exhaust the things seen. We have only one complaint to make about the style. The writer is too fond of inversions—too fond of this kind of thing: "Warm the sun and sweet the air, and jaunty the steps you take with the wine of the spring in your blood."

"Homeland: A Year of Country Days." By Percy W. D. Izzard. London: Richmond. 7/6.

RECENT FICTION.

Mr. Robert Holmes, the well-known police court missionary, possesses an unfailing supply of faith, hope, and charity. It is little short of amazing that day in, day out, year after year, he can deal with a very hopeless class, bear with the constantly recurring disappointments, and yet never lose faith in human nature. Mr. Holmes derives particular pleasure from the fact that the war has brought out some good points in seemingly hopeless cases. "Sister Matty," alias Matthew Godber, a convict with a long record of convictions for false pretences, at last puts his talents to some useful purpose by masquerading as a good-looking Flemish damsel, and bringing in German spies;—while an erstwhile horse-coper acts as a guardian angel to an innocent remount officer. Mr. Holmes writes pleasantly, and his "mixed lot" is decidedly worthy of our acquaintance.

"Sister Matty and Company: A Mixed Lot." By Robert Holmes. Edinburgh: Blackwood. 6/- net.

In this book a worn-out novelist—one Jessica—who has been ordered "somewhere out of London, for a year at least," exchanges letters that solve all the problems of the Universe with an obtuse man-friend, who is blind to the fact that they are made for each other. This gives occasion for some pretty writing and much moralising of the didactic order. "The Tree of Knowledge is not the Tree of Life. The dullest and stupidest may yet see God, if they be pure in heart, in places where the most brilliant scientists and the most learned logicians only find a tangled skein that leads them nowhere." There are people who will exclaim, "How true that is!"

ASTRONOMICAL NOTES FOR NOVEMBER.

(FROM OUR ASTRONOMICAL CORRESPONDENT.)

THE PLANETS.—Mercury is an evening star throughout the month, at his greatest elongation on the 30th; but, owing to his low Southern Declination, he is not likely to be seen from Northern latitudes. Venus is in Superior Conjunction on the 23rd, and rises and sets in daylight throughout November. Mars is in the constellation Sagittarius, and sets a little after 6 p.m. Though not so near the Sun as Mercury, he is hardly likely to be visible owing to twilight and his low altitude. The two great planets are the only objects of their class observable at present. Jupiter, nearly stationary in Gemini, rises about 7 p.m. at the end of the month. The eclipses, transits, and occultations of his satellites visible in the British Isles during November are numerous and interesting, and may be observed with quite a small telescope. Saturn is in Leo, near the bright star Regulus, the planet being a little the brighter of the two objects. He rises before midnight during November. The ring system is closing.

THE MOON.—
New Moon, on November 3rd, at 9.1 p.m.
First Quarter, on November 11th, at 4.46 p.m.
Full Moon, on November 18th, at 7.33 a.m.
Last Quarter, on November 25th, at 10.25 a.m.

THE SUN.—That the sunspot maximum is not yet over was evidenced by the great spot outburst in the middle of October, two spot-groups visible to the naked eye being on the disc at once on the 22nd. Unfortunately, the weather was persistently cloudy, foggy, or wet, the only observation of the great spots obtained at Armagh being through fog so dense that the 10-inch refractor could be used on the Sun without a screen-glass.

THE STARS.—At midnight on November 1st Perseus, Aries, and Cetus are southing. East of the meridian the sky is brilliant with the winter constellations. Orion is conspicuous in the S.E., and above and around him are Taurus, Auriga, Gemini, and the Greater and Lesser Dogs. Half-a-dozen first magnitude stars light up the scene—Sirius, Procyon, Pollux, Capella, Aldebaran, Betelgeuse, and Rigel. The dull aspect of the Western heavens is in strong contrast to the brilliance of the East. There is not a single first magnitude star, except Deneb and Vega low down in the N.W. The Great Square of Pegasus, which is about midway between the meridian and the W. horizon, is the centre of a region very poor in bright stars. At the time mentioned there are hardly as many second magnitude stars west of the meridian as there are first magnitude east of it. Aquarius, Delphinus, and Hercules are setting. Canis Major, Monoceros, and Cancer are rising. Ursa Major has not long passed the meridian below the Pole, and Cassiopeia above it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

SINN FEIN AND THE PEACE CONFERENCE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—There is one point in which I respect the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan—he is an Irishman first, and a clericalist after. I shall respect him more if he goes on and helps to free Ireland from the domination of Italian clericalism, and to secure freedom of thought on all subjects for all Irishmen.

Having read the report of his speech at the Sinn Fein Convention, as reported in the Irish Times of October 30th, I beg to submit the following points for his consideration. A large number of Irishmen are of British descent. I am one of them. This fact does not make me love Ireland less, but it makes me incapable of that anti-British feeling which dominates the Sinn Fein movement. We are proud of the glorious part which the British Empire has taken in the overthrow of German militarism, of which Empire Ireland is a part, and we are determined that she shall remain a part.

Since the commencement of the war Sinn Fein has been actively pro-German. Whatever may be thought about later pro-German plots, there can be no doubt that the Sinn Fein Rebellion of 1916 was a pro-German plot. It was based upon the assumption that Germany was going to win; and Ireland was to appear at the Peace Conference as a co-belligerent with victorious Germany! Now Germany is beaten, and the whole round world rejoices—except Sinn Fein. Sinn Fein has elected a number of men to represent Ireland at the coming General Election. The chief merit of many of them is that they took part in, or sympathised with, the pro-German rising of 1916. If they are elected, what will be the result? It will divide Ireland as she was never divided before. It will set Ireland in opposition to the whole civilised world. It will make the very name "Irish" despised and hated—on an equality with such names as German, Hun, Boche, etc. It will make the British-Irish more British than ever, for they will have to save their reputation in the eyes of the world by claiming to be British rather than Irish.

The Rev. Michael O'Flanagan claims Eamonn de Valera as the representative of the Irish nation. Could we, whose best and dearest have fought and bled and died in the great struggle against German tyranny and outrage and lust and murder, ever grasp a hand which is stained with the blood of Irish and British soldiers who enlisted to save us from the fate of Belgium and France, Russian and Serbia and Armenia? The thing is impossible. De Valera is a living monument, not to Irish nationality, but to British clemency, amounting almost to criminal folly. Had he lived under any other government, a blank wall and a rifle volley would have ended his career. The Peace Conference will consist of representatives of the victorious Allied nations. If Eamonn de Valera and the Rev. Michael O'Flanagan appear there, it can only be as allies of a Germany beaten to her knees. Will that fact help them to hold up their heads? Perhaps there will be other Irishmen there on the other side, who will have better reason to hold up their heads. I beg my reverend brother to consider these here things.—Yours, etc.,

DUDLEY FLETCHER.

Coolbanagher Rectory, Portarlington, October 31st, 1918.

THE PROVOST AND "SELF-DETERMINATION."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—It seems to me that the thanks of all sensible people, Unionist and Nationalist alike, are due to Sir John Mahaffy for his speech at the Gresham Hotel on Tuesday night—not alone for his candid admission as to the hopeless failure of the hopeless Convention, but for having had the courage to pour contempt upon the newly-found theory of "self-determination" and all the rubbish that one reads about it. This catch-word is used by speakers and by writers in the Press to such an extent that one is weary of it, and the Provost has certainly done something to explode the theory that any such system could, with advantage, be applied to Ireland.—Yours, etc.,

J. MACKAY WILSON.

Currygrane, Co. Longford, November 1st, 1918.

THE SALE OF SWEETMEATS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—About this time of the year many churches and other religious and social institutions are in the habit of holding bazaars, sales of work, etc., at which a confectionery stall is usually one of the chief attractions.

Will you kindly allow me to point out that all those who take part in such a sale will lay themselves open to prosecution under the Sale of Sweetmeats (Restriction) Order, 1918? Seeing that the supply of sweets and chocolates is not now sufficient to enable the average retail confectioner to make a living, this Society, in duty to its members, will take the necessary action to bring any such infringements of the Restriction Order to the notice of the competent authorities.—Yours, etc.,

GEORGE A. CONWAY,
Assistant Secretary.

The Irish Retail Confectioners' Association, 87 Grafton street, Dublin. November 1st, 1918.

DUBLIN TRADERS AND THE LIGHTING ORDER.

At the weekly meeting of the Dublin Retail Potato and Fruiterers' Association on Wednesday, Mr. P. Kinahan in the chair, a resolution was passed protesting against the Early Closing Order, particularly as it affected the smaller greengrocers, who were now debarred from selling coal, firewood, bread, and the ordinary necessaries of life after 5.30 p.m., a regulation which constituted a grave hardship on the poor. It was decided to ask the Lord Mayor to receive a deputation on Monday next.

Thefts from the Military.—In the course of a case at Newbridge Sessions yesterday, in which Michael Nolan was fined 20/- and costs for the illegal possession of military blankets, Mr. Thackeray, R.M., said some people thought it was no harm to swindle the Secretary of State for War. At the Curragh some time since the courthouse was filled with tea and sugar, tins of beef and salmon, and other things, all taken from the military.

Belfast's New Knight.—At the meeting of the Belfast Corporation yesterday, the Lord Mayor (Sir James Johnston) moved a resolution conveying the congratulations of the Council to the City Chamberlain (Sir Frederick Moneypenny, M.V.O.) on the honour of Knighthood conferred upon him on Wednesday by the Lord Lieutenant. UNITARIAN CHURCH, STEPHEN'S GREEN, DUBLIN.
On the next two Sunday evenings the Reverend E. Savell Hicks will deal with the ethical and religious meanings of two recently published books. On November 3rd "the Kaiser I Knew," by Arthur N. Davis, the American dentist, who was in Germany, and in touch with the German Royal Family up to the commencement of this year. On the following Sunday, November 10th, Mr. Hicks will preach on Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's recent book, in which that well-known Author gives his views and experiences on Psychical Research, and the evidences for survival after Death.
The morning subjects for the same two Sundays will be "Self Accusation" and "Self Justification."
Unitarians take the view that in religious matters all phases of modern thought and speculations, scientific, religious, and social have their significance, and merit the attention of thoughtful minds. The Kaiser's personality has lessons for us that are as significant as that of some ruler of ancient Israel, and the lessons and the personality touch our lives in the most vital manner.
Services at the Church are held at 12 o'clock and 7 o'clock. All visitors are cordially welcome. The leading principles for which the Church stands are loyalty to God, to Christ, to Humanity blended with the belief in Life Eternal, and the recognition of the right of everyone to think freely in matters of religion.

The Company was registered in 1896, and carries on an extensive business as manufacturers of electric cables, contractors for their laying, and as engineers.
In addition to its headquarters in London it has branches in many of the principal cities of the United Kingdom, including Birmingham, Leeds, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Sheffield, and Cardiff, as well as in Glasgow and Stirling, and it has its own offices in Bombay, Calcutta, and Hyderabad, in India; at Barcelona in Spain; at Cairo, in Egypt; and Shanghai, in China, and does a very large business through its representatives in Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. It has agents in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and Holland, and has extensive connections in South America. Prior to the war it was efficiently represented in Belgium, Rumania, Turkey and Greece.
The Company has, therefore, a widespread field for its operations, in which its name and the reputation of its products are already well known and appreciated.
The trading results of the Company during the past five years are shown in a table in the full Prospectus, which is certified by the Company's Auditors.
This shows the following annual profits (subject to excess profits duty, if any):—

| Year. | Net Profit. | Rate of Dividend including Bonus. |
|---|---|---|
| 1913 | 69,096 | 15 per cent. |
| 1914 | 74,627 | 15 per cent. |
| 1915 | 89,177 | 20 per cent. |
| 1916 | 86,860 | 20 per cent. |
| 1917 | 91,061 | 25 per cent. |

The net assets of the Company on the 31st December, 1917 (irrespective of the value of Patents and Goodwill, which stand at "nil" in the books of the Company), amount to £766,621 5s. 5d., to which should be added the proceeds of the present issue of Shares. The reserve account upon that date stood at £275,000. This includes £175,000, part of the reserve account which has since been capitalised and distributed in 35,000 Ordinary Shares of £5 each, fully-paid, amongst the Ordinary Shareholders. It is the intention of the directors to continue the policy they have hitherto practised of increasing the reserve account from time to time out of the profits.
The prospects of the trading for the year 1918 are such that there is every reason to believe that the profits will be as high as in previous years.
The object of the present issue is to provide further working capital to meet the financial demands of the greatly increased business of the Company.
The following further information is given in compliance with the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908:—
At general meetings of the Company on a show of hands every holder of Ordinary Shares in the capital of the Company present in person is entitled to one vote, and on a poll every holder of such Ordinary Shares present in person or by proxy, is entitled to one vote for every such share held by him, and so long as any dividend shall be in arrear on any of the said Preference Shares, the holder of such share will be entitled to all rights in respect of notices of meetings, attending at meetings and voting thereat enjoyed by the existing Ordinary Shareholders of the Company, but not otherwise.
The minimum subscription upon which the directors will proceed to allotment is the whole amount of the above issue of Preference and Ordinary Shares.
The undermentioned contracts have been entered into by the Company within the last two years, in addition to contracts in the ordinary course of business:—
Two between the Company and Howard Foulds on behalf of the holders of Ordinary Shares, dated August 1st, 1918, and September 26th, 1918, respectively. One dated September 26th, 1918, between the Company and Howard Foulds on behalf of the holders of Preference Shares. One dated 8th October, 1918, between the Company of the one part and the British Trusts Association, Limited, of the other part, relating to the underwriting of the present issue of 40,000 Preference and 10,000 Ordinary Shares at a commission of 2½ per cent. and an over-riding commission of ½ per cent.
Application will be made to the Committee of the London Stock Exchange for an official quotation of the shares now being issued.
Applications for shares may be made on the form below, and forwarded, with the amount payable on application, to Barclay's Bank, Ltd., City Office, 170 Fenchurch street, London, E.C. 3, or any of their branches.
In allotting the Ordinary Shares preference will be given to applications for both Ordinary and Preference Shares in the proportion of one Ordinary Share for every four Preference Shares.
Full prospectuses and forms of application for shares may be obtained from Barclay's Bank, Limited, City Office, 170 Fenchurch street, London, E.C. 3, or any of their branches, and from the Company, and from the Solicitors, and from Messrs. NEW CHURCH
TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,
LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.
A Temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.
It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.
The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the City, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.
Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by

Austria in Dissolution.

An armistice, it is understood, has been signed, or is on the point of being signed, between the Allies and the Austro-Hungarian Empire; and simultaneously the Austro-Hungarian Empire has ceased to exist. While the representatives of the Austro-Hungarian High Command, who reached Italian Headquarters on Wednesday evening, have been conducting pourparlers with General Diaz for an armistice, Austria and Hungary severally have followed the example of the subject peoples and thrown off allegiance to the Hapsburgs. Austria-Hungary was a military Empire, held together by military links, and by nothing else; and military disaster has now shattered it into its natural fragments. The Allied operations in Italy have achieved the objective of their attack by intercepting the lateral communications between the enemy forces on the mountain front and those in the Venetian plain. The Italian report picturesquely describes the enemy's infantry as surrendering "in flocks," and the greater part of their artillery has been captured. The logical military result of these operations and of the Allied operations in the Balkans would be the linking up of the Italian Armies and the Balkan Armies through the insurgent provinces which fill in the interval between Serbia and the Italian front, and the formation of a united front threatening the German-Austrians and the frontiers of Germany in the north and Hungary towards the east. This military result will be secured without further fighting under the conditions of the armistice. The desperate urgency of the Austro-Hungarian Government in seeking an armistice was plainly due to anxiety to avoid its political consequences. Now the cessation of hostilities comes too late to enable the Hapsburgs to retain their hold on German-Austria and Magyar-Hungary when all other territories had repudiated their allegiance. The Emperor's Kingdom is reduced to a caravan burdened with food, furniture, and the Crown jewels; and the finger of destiny points on from Vienna and Budapest to Berlin.

No feature of the revolutions in Vienna and Budapest is more significant than the fact that the bulk of our news about them comes from the German newspapers. Its accuracy need not on that account be questioned when we bear in mind that this news is the kind of news which a month ago no German newspaper would have been permitted to publish without severe censoring, and is the kind of news which must do prompt and enormous damage to the Imperial prestige in Germany. Both in Budapest and Vienna the revolutions seem to have followed a similar course and to have been effected without much bloodshed. Their outbreak was apparently precipitated by the attempt of the Emperor's partisans of the Court to establish a military dictatorship. In both capitals National Councils existed on the same lines as those established at Prague by the Czecho-Slovaks, at Agram by the Southern Slavs, and elsewhere by other subject peoples. These bodies met the Imperial attempt at a military coup d'état by taking over the functions of government. As at Prague and Agram, the garrison troops took the side of the National Councils, and their authority appears to be firmly established both in Budapest and in Vienna. In Hungary the revolutionary movement directed by Count Karolyi has been from the start avowedly anti-dynastic, and its success terminates automatically the reign of Karl as King of Hungary. A sense of retributive justice invests one incident of the Hungarian revolution—the assassination of Count Tisza, that most sinister of all figures in the politics of Mittel-Europa, the real ruler of the Empire and the pillar of Magyar-German ascendancy, the man who bore the most direct responsibility for the war. In Vienna the outstanding figure thrown up by the revolution is the famous Socialist, Herr Victor Adler, and the first act of the revolutionary Government is to be the drawing up of a Constitution "which shall exclude the Monarchy." In both capitals, but more especially in Budapest, the movements show some tendency to develop on Bolshevist lines: we read of a sort of soldiers' Soviet acting side by side with the National Council. Thus there emerge from the final collapse of Hapsburg Imperialism the two independent republican States of Magyar-Hungary and German-Austria. It is the establishment of the latter which obviously is likely to exert the greatest influence in Germany. The southern frontiers of that country are now threatened with invasion. The new German-Austrian State which partially covers those frontiers proposes to conclude peace "in accord with the German Empire"; and its first act has been to expel its own Emperor. The German people will not be slow to realise the bearing of these events on the position of the last military autocrat in Europe.

Ireland and the Peace Conference.

Having made an Irish settlement impossible by their own stupidity or extravagance or sheer wickedness, all the Nationalist parties in Ireland are now looking for salvation to President Wilson. To-day the Parliamentary Party appeals for funds in order that it may present Ireland's case "with irresistible force to President Wilson and the free nations of the world." At its Convention this week Sinn Fein ignored its "gallant," but now heavily embarrassed, "ally in Europe," and regarded Mr. Wilson as the deus ex machina. The Irish Trades Union Congress also pins its faith to Mr. Wilson—and to its "Russian comrades," the brutal, venal, and murderous Bolsheviks. The report of the Labour Conference in Dublin yesterday reads like a chapter from "Alice in Wonderland." It is a nice question whether the insularity of Sinn Fein or the "internationalism" of the Irish Trades Union Congress is the more vain and ignorant thing. The insularity forgets that there is a world outside Ireland; the "internationalism" is so Celtically international that Ireland's welfare is nothing to it in comparison with the interests of its "Russian comrades." Yesterday's Congress, by 99 votes to 10, expelled the delegates of the Sailors' and Firemen's Union. This union's offence is that it has declared a post-war boycott of the nation which has murdered thousands of British sailors on the high seas; and, in conformity with that boycott, has refused to assist English Socialists to confer with the Socialists of an unbeaten Germany. One of the union's delegates reminded the Congress that Irish sailors and Irish women and children had perished with the Leinster. Nevertheless, the Congress expelled the delegates for their guilt in wishing to punish the German sea-assassins, and then, in solemn form, expressed its sympathy with the assassinated Irishwomen. After that performance we can feel no surprise that the Congress finds its nearest spiritual affinity in Bolshevist Russia. It is significant that the Congress, by a swift and complete change of mind, has decided to withdraw all its candidates for Irish seats at the next General Election. The decision will operate, of course, in favour of Sinn Fein and against the interests of the Parliamentary Party; for it will avert three-cornered contests in several constituencies. Sinn Fein will win the next election with the help of the Irish internationalism which applauds the fate of the Tsar and the downfall of the Russian Church. Sedition and Bolshevism will go hand in hand to the polls. Will this development leave the Reverend Michael O'Flanagan and his episcopal acolytes quite easy in their minds?

As we have said, the Parliamentary Party, Sinn Fein, and the Irish Labour Party all look to President Wilson—the first for Dominion Home Rule, and the others for a full-fledged Republic. Their ambitions differ, but they share a common illusion and a common ignorance which must make sensible Irishmen blush for the failure of Irish education and the decay of Irish intelligence. We may point out that, even if Mr. Wilson should interfere in Irish affairs, and the British Government should accept his interference, the only solution which his principle of "self-determination" would allow him to propose for Ireland would be that which every Irish Nationalist loathes most of all—namely, partition. Of course, however, Mr. Wilson has never dreamed, and never will dream, of interference in the domestic politics of the United Kingdom. Why should he, and how can he, interfere? Why should he make himself the champion of a Parliamentary Party which refused to help the American Armies in France, or of a party which conspired actively with Prussian militarism, or of a party which associates itself with the red fool-fury of Russian Bolshevism? How could he interfere if the British Empire should tell him—as, in the inconceivable event of his wishing to interfere, it would tell him—that such interference would be resented? The great Nationalist illusion to-day is that only the voice of the United States will count at the Peace Conference. The truth is not merely that this voice will be one of several equal voices, but that the wishes and interests of Britain will receive from the Conference the most benevolent and the most grateful consideration. All the Allies know, and admit gladly, that Britain has borne the chief burden of the war and has been the chief factor in victory. Without Britain's Navy, as Admiral Sims has testified, Germany would have won the war three years ago. Our Armies in France have been the largest and have suffered the heaviest casualties. The overthrow of Turkey and the redemption of the East have been almost exclusively the work of British arms. That the Peace Conference should seek to repay these magnificent services to humanity by an attempt to dictate to Britain in a matter of domestic policy is a thought that only fools or fanatics could harbour. Ireland has made her bed and must lie on it. She had her great opportunity and she threw it away.

War Memorials.

An association has been formed in London to promote a gigantic scheme for perpetuating the memory of the men who have fallen in the war. The scheme takes the form of a new city which is to be built in Westminster. It is suggested that here shall be established a seat of learning amid surroundings and associations which will recall the great past of the Empire and will commemorate the heroic incidents and episodes of the last four years. It is proposed to acquire a triangular site of about 220 acres in extent. The base will run from the Houses of Parliament to Vauxhall Bridge, and the sides will meet at an apex near Westminster Cathedral. This area will be bisected by an "Empire Avenue," along which there will be a magnificent series of buildings devoted to science, art, and learning. There will also be a War Shrine containing 78 recesses dedicated to those who have fallen in the war. It is suggested that the shrine shall be built by the subscriptions of the women of the Empire. Another important feature will be a "Hall of Nations," which, it is proposed, shall become the home of the League of Nations. The scheme is a truly magnificent conception, and, if carried out, would form a fitting memorial of the Empire's sacrifices in the cause of freedom. It has received influential support, and the promoters have approached the Government with a view to the taking of practical steps. In any case the mere fact that so lofty a project is contemplated should stimulate discussion as to the forms that the war memorials which will be erected in the cities and towns of the United Kingdom should take.

A BATON CHARGE IN DROGHEDA.

Lieutenant Sprey, R.N.V.R., was the principal speaker at a recruiting meeting in Drogheda on Thursday night, and there was so much disorder that the proceedings had to be brought to an abrupt close. There was a large crowd, composed mainly of young men and girls, and from the very start there was much cheering and booing. At the end of the meeting a crowd proceeded through the streets singing Sinn Fein songs, and indulging in such cries as "Up de Valera!" District Inspector Carbery, who was in charge of about a dozen police, ordered his men to charge the crowd with their batons, and the crowd was dispersed. No one was injured in the charge.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.
FRIDAY.

His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, accompanied by Captain the Marquis of Granby, A.D.C., was the guest this evening at dinner of the Chief Secretary for Ireland and Mrs. Shortt at the Chief Secretary's Lodge. Major-General Biddle, of the U.S. Army, and Captain H. Henry, A.D.C., arrived at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Privy Council was held yesterday in the Council Chamber, Dublin Castle. There were present:—His Excellency the Lord Chief Justice, and the Right Hon. the Recorder of Dublin. The Solicitor-General was in attendance.

MR. SHORTT'S VISIT TO PORTADOWN.

On Wednesday the Chief Secretary, accompanied by Mr. H. G. Burgess, the Coal Controller, and by his Private Secretary, Mr. [illegible] Watt, visited Portadown. Mr. E. St. L. Lyburn, of the Department of Agriculture, was also in attendance upon the Chief Secretary. In the forenoon the Chief Secretary inspected the weaving factory of Messrs. Hamilton, Robb and Company, which is driven by gas-power produced from turf, and subsequently the Chief Secretary visited the bog belonging to the firm from which the turf is procured. In the afternoon the Chief Secretary received a deputation in the Town Hall, Portadown, from a committee representing the farmers of the areas bordering on Lough Neagh which suffer from flooding.

THE IRISH-CANADIAN RANGERS.

Captain O'Brien and Lieutenant Neville, of the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish-Canadian Rangers, who had been wounded in the recent fighting, and are now recovered from their wounds, paid a flying visit to Dublin this week in order to renew their acquaintance with some of the friends who organised the public reception given to that regiment on the occasion of their visit to this city a couple of years ago. Sir James Gallagher, J.P., ex-Lord Mayor, and Lady Gallagher entertained the officers in question to luncheon in Jammet's Hotel. Sir John Irwin, J.P.—who acted as Hon. Secretary of the Committee which organised the reception—and Lady Irwin were also present. The officers, in referring to the welcome [illegible] to the regiment, said that it was an [illegible] they would always remember with pleasure. They regretted to say that the regiment had suffered severely in the campaign, but, being of Irish extraction, they were proud to take their place in the great fight for civilisation and humanity, and assist in killing Prussian militarism; they considered no sacrifice too great to secure the defeat of the unspeakable Hun.

Major Campbell Stuart—now Colonel Sir Campbell Stuart—with whom the arrangements for the public reception of the regiment were made, is at present filling a most important position in London.

It will be remembered that Colonel O'Donoghue, who commanded the Duchess of Connaught's Own, was killed in action.

LESLIE BROCKHURST'S PICTURES.

It is always a pleasure to see the work of Gerald Leslie Brockhurst, a number of whose paintings and drawings are now on view at the Raspail Gallery, 8 Leinster street, Dublin. This exhibition has an additional value as providing an outside standard of attainment, and [illegible] stimulating in the way of ideas, and an example of the effectiveness of thorough and painstaking work. Indeed, the thoroughness of Mr. Brockhurst's work in the last detail is a feature [illegible] pleasing as his genius for grasping [illegible] and expressing them vividly, and his [illegible] never makes expression stiff. [illegible] the artist stands high among the [illegible] this age, and is original without being [illegible] and self-conscious. Most of his work [illegible] view in Dublin is portrait work in [illegible] own special style. There is a force [illegible] sion about several of the models, which, perhaps, accounts for the variety of [illegible] and the poses are sometimes unaffected [illegible] ficial, two points which strike one [illegible] though not disagreeable, but a [illegible] found in noting the variety of [illegible] spirit of a face, and the gentle [illegible] manner in which the contours of [illegible] clothing are shown. Among the [illegible] ticularly attracting notice are the portrait of Captain G. W. Rushton (2), which [illegible] offsets the effeminacy of the [illegible] collar. Ramunchito (7), which [illegible] pression; Master Reynold O'Neill [illegible] typical boyish expression; The [illegible] (11) and the portrait of Mrs. [illegible] The Red Bow (8) has merits, but the [illegible] of the red bow and brown clothing [illegible] Palette knife work is seen [illegible] 12, a portrait of Mrs. Richmond [illegible] the effect is not as pleasing as [illegible] style. In another room are [illegible] ink drawings, and a few landscapes. In the latter the spirit of the scene is ably suggested, but the painting is on a rougher plan, which compares not too well with the portraits. Diamond Hill and Letterbrick, Connemara, show the sunshine and shade of Irish landscape. [illegible] picture of a Connemara woman (?) and a [illegible] colour portrait of Miss Sheila Gwynn (?), daughter of Stephen Gwynn, deserve attention. There is a good pen and ink sketch of Mr. J. O'Neill.

The gallery itself has been decorated in a simple and restful way, eminently suitable for its purpose.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The terms of the armistice granted to Turkey were issued this afternoon by the Press Bureau, and they cannot be regarded as vindictive. Private rights and property are not interfered with in any way, but the fullest provision is made for any possible requirements by the Allies in case of need. Relief will be felt that all Allied prisoners of war are to be collected at Constantinople and placed at the disposal of the Allies. This will be welcome news to many British homes, though it is to be feared that many of the British prisoners taken by the Turks will never be heard of again. I know of a young fellow who has never been heard of since he was taken from Kut, and others tell the same story.

In naval circles it is thought to be unlikely that the Goeben will be captured when the Allied Fleets enter the Black Sea. It is expected that her German crew will be landed at a place where they can get away to Germany, while the ship herself will be run ashore or blown up. Few ships have played such a part in a war as the Goeben, and it will be most disappointing if our sailors are unable to capture her.

The Austrian defeat on the Piave is described as "the greatest catastrophe of the war," and it certainly seems to be one of them. Austrian prisoners are surrendering in such droves that it is impossible to count them, while in one sector all the enemy artillery has been captured. Italy at this rate of progress will soon be in possession of all the ground which she lost in her unfortunate reverse, and the way to Trieste will once again be opened for her. It seems, however, that she will achieve the fruits of victory without further fighting under the terms of the armistice which has been, or is on the point of being, signed.

Meanwhile a débâcle of the most complete character has begun in Austria, and it is impossible to say what will be the end of the situation now developing with lighting rapidity. The Emperor Karl has bowed his head to the storm and forbidden opposition to the demands of the people, and, with the Crown jewels, has taken refuge at Godollo. A republic will, in all probability, be set up in Austria, for the red flag has been playing a prominent part in the scenes of disturbance. This terrible object-lesson is probably watched with despairing eyes in Berlin, for the conditions in Germany are such that a spark from Austria may set the whole country ablaze.

It is reported from Zurich that the Austrian Ambassador, with his staff, is to leave Berlin in the course of a few days. The Foreign Office in Berlin will soon need to be closed, for its officials will have no work to do. The Diplomatic Corps has shrunk to the representatives of Spain, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Switzerland: Not one among this little circle can be of assistance to the German Empire, while they have all been heavy sufferers from its injustice and illegal warfare. If the Kaiser had occasion to hold a diplomatic court, what would be his feelings?

A newsvendor in South London this morning was so elated by the news that he chalked on his blackboard "Few Germans left. Get your flags ready." Naturally this statement provoked a ready sale of his wares, and the purchasers seemed perfectly satisfied when they read the news. The splendid news, while it gives rise to general elation, has no effect on the determination of the people to finish the war completely. It is unlikely that there will be anything in the way of public demonstration until Germany surrenders, and then people will probably cast restraint to the winds. A view is heard in high military circles that, if the Germans choose to go on fighting to the last man, the war may last another six months, but no longer. If this should prove to be the case, people will still have to hold tight and work hard until victory is ours. Still, it is not denied that Germany is in a desperate position.

German newspapers are already talking about German representatives for the Peace Conference, and one suggests that Baron von Kuhlmann will be one of the delegates. He is, in the words of Mr. Gerard, the United States Ambassador to Berlin, "the wily von Kühlmann." His selection would be interesting to some circumstances, but it seems as though German delegates will count for very little at any Peace Conference that may be held.

The conclusion of hostilities against Turkey and Austria-Hungary will have a marked effect on the production of munitions of war in this country. It is understood that there are enough munitions in hand at the present [illegible] war against all our enemies for a year. This being so, it seems certain that a halt to production must soon be called, and thus the problem of utilising war machinery and buildings for other work will become imminent. No time should be lost in turning all these resources to a useful purpose in the quickest possible [illegible], and no doubt the Minister of Reconstruction has the matter in hand.

The flag of Japan was flying in many places to-day when Prince Yorihito, of Higashi Fushimi, came to the City to be the guest of the Lord Mayor, and to receive an address of welcome. The Prince was accompanied by Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Duke of Connaught, on medical advice, not being able to attend. [illegible] welcome was given to our distinguished guest, and he was presented with the address enclosed in a gold box. This ceremony took place at the Guildhall, and afterwards the Prince, with the Lord Mayor, drove in State carriages to the Mansion House for luncheon.

Mr. Shortt will be asked on Monday by Mr. O'Dowd whether the Government have in contemplation the [illegible] of the scheme commonly called the [illegible] connecting Great Britain with Canada via Blacksod Bay.

THE COLLAPSE OF AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Though there is a flood of confusing and contradictory messages, says The Times, regarding the internal condition of the dominions of Austria-Hungary, we shall do well to keep our minds fixed, first and foremost, upon the essential military facts. We are still at war with the armies placed in the field by the Austro-Hungarian Monarchy and Government. Meanwhile, General von Weber, on behalf of the Austrian High Command, approached the Italian lines on Wednesday night under a white flag, and craved an armistice. He was presumably making his request in pursuance of the instructions given by Count Julius Andrassy, the Foreign Minister of the Austro-Hungarian Government, but the position of that Government, if it still possesses any shadowy sort of existence, has now become decidedly obscure. A telegram from Austria to a German newspaper sums up the situation with the terse statement, "No one bothers about the Government any more." But the armistice must be concluded with some tangible authority, and presumably the Austrian military chiefs will serve the required purpose. The terms to be imposed by Italy, acting on behalf of the Allies, are believed to include the evacuation of all invaded territory, and the laying down of arms, the surrender of all ports, warships, and submarines, the free and unrestricted use of Austrian railways "in any direction," and the immediate return of all prisoners. When we leave the phase of military negotiations and turn to the internal condition of Austria the outlook becomes far more nebulous and uncertain. On the surface the telegrams suggest that the Austro-Hungarian territories are lapsing into chaos, but we doubt whether this is quite the case. What is happening, and has been happening for days past, is that each of the nationalities formerly owning allegiance to the Monarchy is setting up its own form of Government. There are reports of grave disturbances in Vienna, Budapest, and elsewhere, but so far there is no indication of any violent uprising, because there is nothing left to revolt against. The one prominent act of bloodshed is the murder of Count Tisza, the former Hungarian Prime Minister, who has been shot while out walking in Budapest. Apart from this crime, the situation in Austria-Hungary is probably steadying a little. Though Austria-Hungary, as the world knew it, has vanished in a day, there seems no likelihood so far that the crazy anarchy which has laid Russia in ruins will supervene. Stable elements remain.

EFFECT OF AUSTRIA'S COLLAPSE.

Austria's collapse, says The Times, will have an effect on a defiant Germany in countless ways, but there is one effect which is quite clear at the moment, and certainly important from the point of view of the Western front. Germany is bound at once to be very short of petrol. The question is, how far she will be able, if she chooses to fight on, to make up for the lack of petrol by the use of substitutes. For aeroplanes she can use benzine, of which she probably has an abundant supply. For submarines she has a substitute available in coal tar distillate, but this is difficult to manufacture in large quantities, and if the submarine warfare is to be continued it will certainly have to be continued by means of raids on Germany's reserve of petrol. For the moment, however, the Germans have "abandoned" the submarine campaign. With one exception there has been no attack since October 23. It is known that definite instructions have been given to German submarine commanders that passenger ships are not to be attacked at sight. In practice this means that no attacks at all are practicable. These instructions are the work of the present German Government, who, as all the world knows, are anxious to prove the efficiency of their control over the military and naval authorities. There may, of course, be a military coup d'état in Germany, but if there is not any resumption of submarine warfare, which would inevitably involve further attacks on passenger ships at sight, it would manifestly be at the orders of the civil authorities in Germany. To all appearance the dilemma is complete for Germany between the complete abandonment of any advantages that she hoped to gain from the submarine campaign, and a demonstration to the whole world that the present German Government have no real control over the military and naval power, and are now being allowed to exercise control merely on sufferance.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The terms of the armistice granted to Turkey were issued this afternoon by the Press Bureau, and they cannot be regarded as vindictive. Private rights and property are not interfered with in any way, but the fullest provision is made for any possible requirements by the Allies in case of need. Relief will be felt that all Allied prisoners of war are to be collected at Constantinople and placed at the disposal of the Allies. This will be welcome news to many British homes, though it is to be feared that many of the British prisoners taken by the Turks will never be heard of again. I know of a young fellow who has never been heard of since he was taken from Kut, and others tell the same story.

In naval circles it is thought to be unlikely that the Goeben will be captured when the Allied Fleets enter the Black Sea. It is expected that her German crew will be landed at a place where they can get away to Germany, while the ship herself will be run ashore or blown up. Few ships have played such a part in a war as the Goeben, and it will be most disappointing if our sailors are unable to capture her.

The Austrian defeat on the Piave is described as "the greatest catastrophe of the war," and it certainly seems to be one of them. Austrian prisoners are surrendering in such droves that it is impossible to count them, while in one sector all the enemy artillery has been captured. Italy at this rate of progress will soon be in possession of all the ground which she lost in her unfortunate reverse, and the way to Trieste will once again be opened for her. It seems, however, that she will achieve the fruits of victory without further fighting under the terms of the armistice which has been, or is on the point of being, signed.

Meanwhile a débâcle of the most complete character has begun in Austria, and it is impossible to say what will be the end of the situation now developing with lighting rapidity. The Emperor Karl has bowed his head to the storm and forbidden opposition to the demands of the people, and, with the Crown jewels, has taken refuge at Godollo. A republic will, in all probability, be set up in Austria, for the red flag has been playing a prominent part in the scenes of disturbance. This terrible object-lesson is probably watched with despairing eyes in Berlin, for the conditions in Germany are such that a spark from Austria may set the whole country ablaze.

It is reported from Zurich that the Austrian Ambassador, with his staff, is to leave Berlin in the course of a few days. The Foreign Office in Berlin will soon need to be closed, for its officials will have no work to do. The Diplomatic Corps has shrunk to the representatives of Spain, Holland, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, and Switzerland. Not one among this little circle can be of assistance to the German Empire, while they have all been heavy sufferers from its injustice and illegal warfare. If the Kaiser had occasion to hold a diplomatic court, what would be his feelings?

A newsvendor in South London this morning was so elated by the news that he chalked on his blackboard: "Few Germans left. Get your flags ready." Naturally this statement provoked a ready sale of his wares, and the purchasers seemed perfectly satisfied when they read the news. The splendid news, while it gives rise to general elation, has no effect on the determination of the people to finish the war completely. It is unlikely that there will be anything in the way of public demonstration until Germany surrenders, and then people will probably cast restraint to the winds. A view is heard in high military circles that, if the Germans choose to go on fighting to the last man, the war may last another six months, but no longer. If this should prove to be the case, people will still have to hold tight and work hard until victory is ours. Still, it is not denied that Germany is in a desperate position.

German newspapers are already talking about German representatives for the Peace Conference, and one suggests that Baron von Kuhlmann will be one of the delegates. He is, in the words of Mr. Gerard, the United States Ambassador to Berlin, "the wily von Kuhlmann." His selection would be interesting in some circumstances, but it seems as though German delegates will count for very little at any Peace Conference that may be held.

The conclusion of hostilities against Turkey and Austria-Hungary will have a marked effect on the production of munitions of war in this country. It is understood that there are enough munitions in hand at the present time to wage fierce war against all our enemies for a year. This being so, it seems certain that a halt to production must soon be called, and thus the problem of utilising war machinery and buildings for other work will become imminent. No time should be lost in turning all these resources to a useful purpose in the quickest possible time, and no doubt the Minister of Reconstruction has the matter in hand.

The flag of Japan was flying in many places to-day when Prince Yorihito of Higashi Fushimi drove to the City to be the guest of the Lord Mayor, and to receive an address of welcome. The Prince was accompanied by Prince Arthur of Connaught, the Duke of Connaught, on medical advice, not being able to attend. A hearty welcome was given to our distinguished guest, and he was presented with the address enclosed in a gold box. This ceremony took place at the Guildhall, and afterwards the Princes, with the Lord Mayor, drove in State carriages to the Mansion House for luncheon.

Mr. Shortt will be asked on Monday by Mr. O'Dowd whether the Government have in contemplation the revival of the scheme commonly called the All Red Route connecting Great Britain with Canada via Blacksod Bay.

IRISH VICTORIA CROSS HERO.

The late Captain (Acting Lieutenant-Colonel) Richard Annesley West, details of whose gallant exploit in winning the Victoria Cross, and in which he was fatally wounded, appeared in our issue of Thursday, had a career of exceptional brilliance in the Army. Enlisting as a trooper in the 45th (Irish Horse) Company Imperial Yeomanry, and subsequently gazetted in Kitchener's Scouts, he fought through the South African War, winning the King's and Queen's medals. He was later appointed Assistant Superintendent of the Repatriation Board and Staff Officer of the Transvaal Horse Artillery. Lieutenant-Colonel West's reputation for gallantry and leadership was maintained with added lustre in the present campaign. He fought with the North Irish Horse in the retreat from Mons, and was awarded the Mons Star, in addition to being mentioned in Lord French's first despatch. He gained the D.S.O. at the battle of Monchy in April, 1917, being second in command of the North Somersetshire Yeomanry. While Acting-Major in the Special Cavalry Reserve Second Tank Corps, he was awarded the Military Cross for magnificent leadership and personal bravery shown in the advance on August 8th, 1918, at Guillancourt. During this action he had two horses shot under him, but continued to render great service to the cavalry by personally reconnoitring the ground in front of La Quesnoy. Towards the end of the same month he was awarded a Bar to the D.S.O. for conspicuous gallantry near Courcelles, in which he for most of the time commanded his battalion in an action fought in a thick mist, through which he rallied his company and maintained direction and cohesion.

RAIDS ON GERMAN TOWNS.

We are beginning, says The Times, to see the ripe fruits of this year's campaigns, and nowhere are they more conspicuous than in air operations. The German losses in air fighting have been consistently heavy all through this year's campaign, far heavier than those of the Allies. Disasters, like that of Wednesday, are the culmination. No very painful effort of imagination will picture to people here, who have a vivid memory of air raids, what the constant expeditions to German towns mean to the people who live in them. There are so many of these towns, and they are so vulnerable, that real defence of them is impossible, and the plight of their inhabitants must be really pitiable. They can have little hope of relief, except through the surrender of their country. The aerodromes in Belgium, from which the Gothas used to rise on picked nights last year and this spring to bomb London, are now in the hands of the British Air Force. They can hardly be organised for offence yet, but they soon will be, and they will send out their contingents, night after night, to attack the munition factories and depôts of the German towns. The range and carrying power of the bombing aeroplane increase constantly. As the American programme adds its numbers to the continual growth of the Allied production, the squadrons will become more and more formidable. For the first time the German people are beginning to learn what war means. The Allied pilots and observers are their teachers, and in that field of education, at least, there is no lack of men to do the work of teaching.

GERMANY UNREPENTANT.

The Times Correspondent at The Hague telegraphs:—Conversing with some of our prisoners who arrived from Germany, I was told that the Germans universally recognise that Germany is "down and out," but do not realise the significance of Germany's present position. As the war has never been waged in German territory, they are unable to grasp the real meaning of the German defeat. Several of our men assured me that, so far as their experience went, German soldiers were still as firm believers in militarism as ever. Great efforts are still being made to prove that Germany's disaster is not due to any failure of militarism, but to the defection of Germany's allies, and to other causes beyond Germany's control. Hopeless as is their position, they still hope to restore their prestige. They are entirely unrepentant, and are looking forward to the time when they will be able to "do it again, and do it better."

NATIONALIST PARTY AND GENERAL ELECTION.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

The Irish National Trustees, in an appeal for funds for the Nationalist Party, in view of the coming general election, say:—The issues which will be presented to the Irish people at this election are as grave and far-reaching as any that the electors in Ireland have ever been called to vote on: Whether Ireland, pending the restoration of their national right to self-government, is to have any representation in the House of Commons except the followers of Sir Edward Carson; whether, at this moment, when Ireland is seeking to place her claims as an ancient nation before America and the other nations of the world, she is to abandon to the irreconcilable enemies of Irish freedom the most effective platform from which to gain a hearing from the outside world for those claims; whether, at the approaching election the people are to declare for an object and adopt a policy and methods which are bound to lead them to play the game of military rule in Ireland and to end in defeat and disaster. Or, whether, on the other hand, by declaring for a rational and realisable object, and the only practicable policy, they will take advantage of the unparalleled opportunity now offered to Ireland of presenting her case with irresistible force to President Wilson and the free nations of the world, and securing, in the general re-settlement of the world which will follow the victory of the Allies, a full and fair recognition of her ancient rights.

BREAK-UP OF DUAL MONARCHY.

NEW GOVERNMENTS AT VIENNA AND BUDAPEST.

COUNT TISZA ASSASSINATED.

ANARCHY AND DISORDER RAMPANT.

The break-up of the Dual Monarchy progresses rapidly. To-day in Budapest, the capital of Hungary, there is a revolution, the Government being taken over by Count Karolyi and the new Hungarian Council.

In Vienna a German-Austrian Government has been formed, and has already taken over control.

The Emperor Karl is reported to have fled to Godollo Castle.

Count Tisza, the Hungarian ex-Premier, has been shot dead in the streets of Budapest.

A Copenhagen telegram of yesterday's date (through Reuter's Agency) says that the Berliner Tageblatt has received from Count Michael Karolyi the following message:—

"A revolution has broken out in Budapest, and the Hungarian National Council has taken over the government. The military and police authorities acknowledge the National Council completely. The inhabitants are rejoicing.
(Signed) "KAROLYI,
"President of the National Council."

Count Karolyi has, according to a Reuter's Bale telegram, constituted a new Hungarian Ministry.

COUNT TISZA ASSASSINATED

A Reuter's Copenhagen telegram of yesterday says that a telegram from Budapest to Copenhagen announces that Count Tisza, while walking with a relative, was killed by a revolver shot from a soldier. His relative is said to be wounded.

SOLDIERS AND OFFICERS HEAD THE MOVEMENT.

A semi-official German news agency (through Reuter's) reports disturbances at Vienna and Budapest.

The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, says the situation in Budapest is reported very grave. Troops who have revolted have machine guns and munitions at their disposal, and hold one of the railway stations of the city. They appear to be acting in agreement with the Hungarian National Assembly, but a Military Committee has already been formed.

Events in Budapest seem to have been provoked by an attempt by Archduke Eugene to form a military dictatorship, but the details are not clear. On Thursday evening a crowd of several thousands assembled in the square before the building in which the Hungarian National Assembly was sitting, and cheered the members of the Military Committee.

Four regiments, with their officers, have sworn fidelity to the National Assembly. The arrest of two young officers caused an outbreak. The mob rescued one of the officers, and then swept towards the headquarters of the Military Governor, to which the other officer had been taken. Soldiers on sentry duty, instead of offering resistance, placed themselves at the head of the insurgents. The mob then stormed the Military Prison, and released the civil and military prisoners. The latter, with cheers for the Republic, replaced their Imperial cockades with cockades of National colours and joined the Revolutionaries.

A Vienna Correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt telegraphs:—A Republic is on the way. A procession of several thousand soldiers and officers has marched past the Parliament Building, while others surrounded the Ministry of War.

A Budapest telegram to the Cologne Gazette says:—Shops have been plundered at Pozega, Fakracz and other places belonging to Hungarians. Not only military, but civilian prisoners, are being released. The mob is marching on Verocze. Telegraphic and telephonic communications are interrupted, and railway traffic is suspended. The Fiume passenger train has again been plundered.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER'S PLANS.

A Budapest telegram says the new Hungarian Premier, Count Hadik, told a representative of the Az Est that he would carry out extensive revolutionary work, but that he desired the democratic development of the State, and not a revolution. He is also reported to be negotiating with parties of the Extreme Left in the hope of being able to include some Socialists in his Cabinet, but he is primarily negotiating with the parties of Count Andrassy and Count Aponyi, and the so-called Left Centre.

ANARCHY IN AUSTRIA.

A Copenhagen Exchange telegram says:—Latest details show that complete anarchy is anticipated in Austria. Grave riots occurred in Vienna on Wednesday evening. The city is without food.

At Pola marines have placed the Navy at the disposal of Hungary and the South Slavs. The Allies are expected to anchor in Trieste Harbour shortly.

FLIGHT OF AUSTRIAN EMPEROR.

A Vienna telegram to the Berliner Tageblatt says:—A revolution has broken out in Vienna. The National Government has assumed control of the National Congress, and has agreed to draw up a constitution which will exclude the Monarchy.

Demonstrations are continually taking place in favour of a republic. The black and yellow standard of the Parliament Building has been replaced by the National colours. The Socialist, Herr Victor Adler, has been appointed Foreign Minister of the new State Government. The Soldiers' Councils demand demobilisation, and the dissolution of the Army is continuing.

The Emperor is said to have fled to Godollo Castle.

Public opinion is divided between adhesion to Germany and to a German-Austrian Federated State.

Two trains filled with soldiers on their way to the Western front have been held up at Budapest.

A Vienna telegram (through Reuter's Amsterdam Correspondent) says that Wednesday passed in general without disturbance. Towards seven o'clock in the evening demonstrations took place. A large number of demonstrators then went to the Parliament buildings, where speeches were made and the Red Flag unfurled. Lively demonstrations also occurred in front of the War Ministry. Both here and at other points lads committed disorderly acts, but they were not supported by the mass of the demonstrators.

A Vienna telegram of Wednesday's date says that before the opening of yesterday's sitting of the German-Austrian National Assembly a great crowd gathered outside the meeting place. Speeches were made from the balcony and German national songs were sung. Demonstrations in favour of German Austria were also made before the Parliament buildings.

Replying to a deputation which advocated the formation of a national army to maintain peace and order, Herr Dinghofer, President of the Assembly, declared that the formation of an independent German-Austrian army was proceeding.

GERMAN-AUSTRIAN STATE.

A letter from a high German officer at the front is published in the Cologne Gazette. One sentence runs:—"What caused the most damage was the paper war waged by our enemies, who daily flooded us with some hundred thousand leaflets, extraordinarily well arranged and well edited."

A Vienna telegram says—The German-Austrian State Council has addressed a proclamation to the German people of Austria announcing the provisional constitution of the new State, as well as the election of the State Council, which now assumes the government of German Austria. The Council will forthwith appoint the first Government, which will conduct peace negotiations, assume the administration of the German territories of Austria and the control of German troops. The German-Austrian Council requests the people to avoid everything that might endanger the taking over of the Government and the bringing about of peace, which is to be concluded by the German people's Government itself in accord with the German Empire.

A Vienna telegram to the Berliner Tageblatt says:—The German-Austrian Government was formed on Wednesday. It is composed as follows:—Foreign Affairs, Herr Victor Adler, Social Democrat; War, Cavalry Captain Joseph Meyer; German Agrarian Interior, Dr. Mataga, Social Democrat; Finance, Dr. Steinender, German National; Commerce, Dr. Urban, German National; Public Welfare, Herr Junkel, Christian Socialist; Education, Herr Pascher, German National; Justice, Herr Roller, German National; Agriculture, Herr Stockler, Christian Socialist; Social Matters, Herr Hanusch, Social Democrat; Public Works, Herr Zerbuk, Christian Socialist; Food Supply, ex-Chief of Section, Herr Loewenfeld; Public Health, Professor Krupp.

The Provisional State Council, with delegates of the National Assembly, met in Vienna on Thursday to take over the Government.

DIPLOMATIC MOVEMENTS.

A message from Zurich to the Paris Matin states that according to the Berliner Tageblatt the Austrian Ambassador and Staff will leave Berlin in a few days.

An Agency telegram from Frankfort to the Dutch Press announced that the German Ambassador at Constantinople, Count Bernsdorff, will arrive in Berlin on Friday.

A Vienna telegram says:—The Austro-Hungarian Ambassador at Berlin, Prince von Hohenlohe Schillingsfuerst, who arrived in Vienna on Thursday, tendered his resignation, but withdrew it at the request of authoritative quarters.

EVENTS AT PRAGUE.

Dealing with the events at Prague on October 29th, the papers, according to a Vienna telegram, report that a Socialist meeting was held in the afternoon, at which Radical anti-dynastic demands were made, including the removal of the Kaiser Franz Monument. Ferdinand street is to be renamed Masaryk street, and the Fransensbrigge Wilson Bridge. Peace demonstrations continued uninterruptedly, and mass processions were headed by officers and soldiers, with Czecho Slovak colours. There were no disturbances. The Czech flag was hoisted in the morning over the citadel of Prague as a sign that it had passed under the administration of the National Committee.

An Agency telegram to the Rheinisch Westfaelische Zeitung states that all the Honved troops at Agram, including their officers, took the oath to the National Council on October 29. Disturbances in Slavonian territory have increased, and the town of Rasic (Krain) is in flames. Castles belonging to Baron Guttmann and Count Pejasevich have been plundered and set on fire. Deserters are everywhere plundering and burning.

TRAINS HELD UP BY CZECHS.

A Berlin telegram to the Weser Zeitung says that the last train from Berlin to pass the Bohemian frontier left on the evening of October 29.

The Rheinisch Westfaelische Zeitung states that two oil trains which were bound for Germany with a German escort have been held up by Czechs. The oil was seized, and the Germans disarmed. All goods trains carrying food to Vienna and Germany were also held up.

AUSTRIANS IN FULL RETREAT.

ALLIED ARMIES IN PURSUIT.

IMMENSE BOOTY TAKEN.

THE REPORTED ARMISTICE.

The triumph of the Allied Armies on the Italian front appears to be overwhelming and complete. The official reports speak of advance at all points, and huge captures of prisoners and war material.

General Diaz states that in the Grappa region, under pressure of the Fourth Army, the enemy front has collapsed.

There is unofficial news that, following the negotiations under white flag reported yesterday, an armistice has been signed, and that the cessation of hostilities is imminent, if it has not already taken place. This, however, is not officially confirmed.

The Italian communiqué, issued on Thursday evening, says:—

In Grappa under the impetus of the troops of the Fourth Army the enemy front has collapsed. It is impossible to estimate the number of prisoners. Hostile artillery here has all been captured. Columns of the 8th Army, having overcome the resistance of the enemy rearguards, are descending into the Piave Valley. The Third Army reached the same line as the Tenth Army. Our advance guards entered Motta di Livenzia and Torre di Mosto. The capture of prisoners, guns, and booty is announced on all sides.

Friday's Italian Official.—The battle is continuing, and the enemy maintains intact his resistance from the Stelvio to the Astico, is vacillating on the Asiago plateau, and is in full retreat on the remainder of the front, protected more by interruptions on the roads than by his rearguards, irresistibly overwhelmed by our troops who are carried on in pursuit by their enthusiasm. Our batteries brought quickly forward and captured artillery are intensely shelling the adversary exploiting the whole length of their range.

Cavalry divisions, having destroyed the enemy's resistance on the Livenza, and re-established the crossings, are marching towards the Tagliamento. The Sixth Army yesterday entered into action with the brilliant advance of the Ancona Brigade (Sixty-Eighth and Seventieth Regiments), at the end of Brenta Valley, and has this morning attacked the adversary along the whole front.

The number of prisoners captured is continually increasing; that of guns taken is more than seven hundred; the booty is immense. Its value is to be estimated in milliards.

The British communiqué of Thursday states:—

The battle is progressing successfully. British infantry and mounted troops occupied Sacile. The troops of the Tenth Army reached the line from Livenza to Brugnert. The enemy is falling back on the Grappa sector. Many important tactical positions were captured. The number of prisoners captured by the Tenth Army since the commencement of the operations now exceeds 15,000. I wish to place on record the great debt I owe to the Italian bridging units, without whose assistance the difficult operation of bridging the Piave might not have been satisfactorily accomplished.

Yesterday's British Official.—During the day the Eleventh Italian Corps pushed vigorously forward, and has reached the Livenza River at Motta di Livenza. The Tenth Army now holds Livenza River from this place to the north of Sacile. Further prisoners have been taken, but the numbers are not yet known.

THE GERMAN PLIGHT.

LINE NORTH OF THE AISNE EXPOSED.

SERRE POSITIONS BECOMING UNTENABLE.

Telegraphing on Thursday, the Correspondent of the Havas Agency on the French Front says:—Between the Oise and the Serre we are fighting against troops who have been asked, as a final effort, to hold on for a fortnight in order to obtain an armistice and advantageous peace terms. After three days of fierce fighting we have overcome the principal positions on the whole line of resistance, on which, according to the Order of the First German Infantry Division, the enemy troops were on no account to give way.

The Hunding line, the chief position of the withdrawal, on which the Germans counted upon stopping us between the Oise and the Aisne, has been almost entirely carried. We have reached Guise Plateau, which commands the valley of the Oise towards Hirson, and our progress has taken in the rear the whole of the German positions north of the Serre, which the enemy is defending despairingly, but each day we continue to advance.

The Germans cannot hope to maintain their hold on these positions much longer.

In retiring towards Marle and Montcornet they have automatically exposed the line north of the Aisne. In the region of Rethel and in the Argonne their successive forced withdrawals threaten to take them even nearer to the line of the Meuse. While they struggle with such determination to maintain themselves on the Argonne, the brilliant manœuvres executed by Foch, by means of the armies of Generals Débeney, Mangin, and Guillaumat constitute a threat of envelopment of far-reaching importance. For that reason we must follow with rapt attention the important operations of these three splendid armies.

A GOOD DAY IN THE WEST.

SUCCESSFUL BRITISH ATTACKS.

GREAT HAUL OF PRISONERS AND GUNS.

THE FRANCO-AMERICAN ADVANCE.

English and Canadian troops at dawn yesterday attacked very successfully on a six-mile front south of Valenciennes, forced the Rhonelle, captured a couple of villages, and reached the railway in the southern outskirts of Valenciennes.

Strong counter-attacks were beaten off, and in the course of the operations we took between 2,000 and 3,000 prisoners.

In the month of October the British took over 49,000 German prisoners in France and 925 guns (including heavy guns) and 7,000 machine guns. In the area of the enemy's retreat we have taken enormous quantities of material.

Our toll of prisoners in France during the past three months is 172,659; of guns, 2,378, and of machine guns, 17,000.

On the French fronts the enemy was obliged to yield ground in the Bannogne and Recouvrance districts, and to the west of Herpy.

Franco-American troops on the Aisne penetrated the German positions on a front of 20 kilometres, and crossed the Aisne, carrying several villages. The Americans have taken 3,602 prisoners.

BRITISH REPORTS.

Friday, 10.2 a.m.

In successful minor enterprises, carried out by small parties of our troops in the neighbourhood of Le Quesnoy yesterday, we captured a number of prisoners.

An operation undertaken by us this morning south of Valenciennes is reported to be making good progress.

8.5 p.m.

At dawn this morning English and Canadian troops attacked on a front of about six miles south of Valenciennes.

After sharp fighting, in which exceptionally heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy, we forced the passage of the Rhonelle, capturing the villages of Mareschès and Aulnoy, and reached the line of the railway in the southern outskirts of Valenciennes.

Strong opposition was met with, particularly north of Mareschès, and in the village of Aulnoy.

Later in the day several determined counter-attacks were delivered by the enemy on the high ground west of the Preseau-Valenciennes road.

In spite of these attacks, our troops successfully maintained their positions on the ridge.

This evening further counter-attacks are developing north-east and north of Aulnoy.

In the course of these operations we have captured between 2,000 and 3,000 prisoners.

In the month of October, 1918, the British Forces in France have captured over 49,000 German prisoners, including about 1,200 officers.

We have also taken in the same period 925 guns (including many heavy guns), 7,000 machine guns, and some 670 trench mortars.

In the area of the enemy's retreat enormous stocks of ammunition, material, and stores of all kinds have fallen into our hands, including several locomotives and quantities of rolling stock, many wagons, and a few tanks; hundreds of tons of wire, several thousand tons of road metal, some hundreds of miles of telephone cable, and a great number of engineer and other dumps.

On the front of one Army alone the enemy abandoned some 2,000,000 feet of timber.

Our total captures in the series of successful battles fought by the British Forces in France during the past three months include 172,659 prisoners (among them 3,957 officers), 2,378 guns, over 17,000 machine guns, and over 2,750 trench mortars.

Aviation.—On October 31st low clouds and mist somewhat restricted operations, but reconnaissance and photographic work was completed, and the accurate observation of artillery fire resulted in considerable damage being caused to enemy battery positions. Our bombing machines continued to bombard enemy railways and other targets, dropping over six and a half tons of bombs. After the severe fighting of the previous day, the enemy's machines showed very little activity in air fighting. Two hostile machines were destroyed and one was driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing. Owing to the weather conditions, no night operations were possible.

FRENCH DESPATCHES.

Friday.

During the night there were violent artillery actions in the region of Guise and west of St. Fergeux. There is nothing to report on the rest of the front.

Friday Night.

Between St. Quentin-le-Petit and Herpy fighting was resumed this morning, and continued throughout the day.

In spite of his resistance the enemy was obliged to yield ground in the region of Bannogne and Recouvrance, as well as to the west of Herpy.

We captured some prisoners.

Troops of the Fourth Army, in liaison on their right with the American Army, attacked this morning on the Aisne front, to the north and south of Vouziers.

On a front of 20 kilometres, from the region to the east of Attigny, as far as the north of Olizy, we penetrated into the German positions, which were strongly held, and stubbornly defended.

To the east of Attigny we carried Rilly-aux-Oies.

Further to the south our troops, crossing the Aisne, carried, in sheer fighting, Semuy and Voncq.

Pushing vigorously towards the east, they drove back the enemy a distance of over three kilometres from this locality, and penetrated deeply into the Voncq Woods.

The battle was not less violent on the heights to the east of Vouziers.

We gained a footing on the Alleux Plateau to the north-east of Therron, and reached the western outskirts of Vandy Wood, as well as the brook that runs east of Chestres.

On our right our troops advanced beyond Falaise, and carried the crests to the south-west of Primat.

So far the capture of several hundreds of prisoners and a certain number of guns, including batteries of 105 millimetre guns, has been reported.

Aviation.—On October 31st the weather was very misty and cloudy, and much hampered aviation operations. Nevertheless, a number of reconnaissances were made, and our chasers brought down five enemy machines. During the night, although the atmospheric conditions were still more unfavourable than during the day, some of our machines were able to drop a ton and a-half of bombs on the railway stations of Longuyon, Dommary, and Baroncourt, where great activity was observed.

BELGIAN REPORT.

Friday.

At dawn the enemy artillery began a violent counter-barrage on the whole Belgian front.

Some local progress was made between Ronsele and the Ghent-Bruges Canal.

One of our aviators brought down an enemy balloon in flames.

AMERICAN DESPATCHES.

Friday.

On the Verdun front the night was marked by artillery fire on both sides of the Meuse.

In the other sectors held by the American troops there is nothing of importance to report.

Friday Night.

The First American Army continued its attack on the west bank of the Meuse, in conjunction with the Fourth French Army on its left.

The perfect co-operation of all arms—infantry, artillery, aeroplanes, and tanks—succeeded in overcoming and disorganising the enemy's determined resistance, and in breaking up counter-attacks.

Enemy divisions, rapidly brought up, were intermingled with units already in line, in a vain attempt to stop our advance.

Our victorious troops have already taken and passed beyond St. George's, Landwes-et-St. George's, Imecourt, Landreville, Cheunery, Bayonville, Remonville, Andevanne, Cléry-le-Grand.

Up to the present 3,602 prisoners have been counted, of whom 151 are officers.

GERMAN REPORTS.

Friday.

(Words missing)—On both sides of Somergem we captured the bridgeheads which had been temporarily lost.

On the rest of the front we repulsed the enemy before our lines. Reserve Infantry Regiments Nos. 57 and 79 especially distinguished themselves in this fighting.

The main attack was launched by the British and French between Deynze and the Scheldt.

South of Deynze, near Zulte and Anseghem, the enemy penetrated into our lines. South of Deynze battalions of the Second Guard Infantry Division, in co-operation with Fusilier Regiment No. 30, threw back the enemy, who was advancing across the Deynze-Cruyshautem road.

On both sides of Anseghem troops fighting in the rear brought the enemy to a standstill before our artillery.

Troops fighting north of the Courtrai-Audenarde Railway, who repulsed the enemy before their lines, were withdrawn during the day in order to keep in touch with their neighbours on the heights on both sides of Nokere.

The fighting ended in the evening north of the Deynze-Cruyshauten road, and on the line Nokere-Kerkhove, and, therefore, one to three kilometres east of our old outpost line.

In the Scheldt lowlands the destructions of places by the enemy continues. The towns of Tournai, Valenciennes, and Peruwel were subjected to British fire.

There has been lively artillery and reconnoitring activity on both sides of Le Quesnoy and Landrecies.

Army Group of the German Crown Prince—On the heights of the Aisne, north-west of Château Porcien, the artillery duels increased enormously in strength.

The enemy continued his strong attacks north-west of Herpy with fresh forces. They again broke down with the heaviest of losses to the enemy.

Army Group of General von Gallwitz—On the east bank of the Meuse there has been lively artillery activity throughout the day.

FINAL BLOW TO THE TURKS.

WAR CABINET'S TRIBUTE

TO THE MESOPOTAMIA ARMIES.

TURKISH ARMISTICE TERMS.

The War Cabinet has sent the following telegram to General Marshall:—

The War Cabinet desire to express their hearty congratulations on the splendid success won by the forces under your command, which has dealt the final blow to the Turkish Army, and has achieved the liberation of Mesopotamia from the alien yoke, under which its peoples have suffered for so many centuries.

This short, but glorious, operation has put the finishing touch to a campaign conducted under exceptional difficulties, and victory has only been gained by resourceful and energetic leadership, by the excellent work of the Staff, and the endurance and resolution of all ranks, who have worthily maintained the reputations of the British and Indian Armies.

The Mesopotamia expedition will be for ever memorable in the annals of the British Empire.

RECENT OPERATIONS IN MESOPOTAMIA.

The Secretary of the War Office makes the following announcement:—

The General Officer Commanding in Mesopotamia reports on the recent operations on the Tigris, near to its confluence with the Lesser Zab, which, after six days' hard fighting, ended in the surrender of the army commanded by Ismail Hakki on the morning of October 13th, and the capture of 8,000 Turks.

The operations commenced on October 24th with an attack on the strong Turkish position at Fatha, where the Tigris flows through Jebel Hamrim. This was carried out by the 17th and 18th Indian Divisions, west and east of the Tigris, respectively, assisted by the 7th Indian Cavalry Brigade on the east bank of the Tigris, and the 11th Indian Cavalry Brigade on the west bank. The latter, by a march of over fifty miles, forced a crossing over the Lesser Zab, in face of opposition, and by a further march of about 50 miles got right round the Turks, and astride their lines of communication at Hurwaish, where they were joined by our armoured car brigade. Out-manœuvred on the east bank, and driven back on the west bank, the Turks fell back to their second line, at the confluence of the Lesser Zab, a position of great natural strength.

On October 25th the 18th Indian Division forced a crossing over the Lesser Zab. The fighting which ensued was very severe.

On October 28th the 17th Indian Division successfully assaulted the Turkish Shergat position, and on the 29th, though exhausted by their continuous fighting and marching through rugged hills, pushed forward, and attacked till nightfall the Turks, who were now hemmed in.

On the morning of the 30th the Turkish Commander surrendered his total force, consisting of the whole of the 14th Division, the bulk of the 2nd Division, and portions of two regiments of the 5th Division, with all their artillery, train, and administrative services.

HONOUR FOR GENERAL ALLENBY.

The King, in recognition of General Allenby's eminent services in Palestine, has promoted him to be Knight Grand Cross of the Order of the Bath.

TERMS OF ARMISTICE.

It is officially announced that the terms of armistice with Turkey include the following:—

Opening of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus, and access to the Black Sea.

Allied occupation of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus forts.

Position of all minefields, etc., to be communicated.

All the Allied prisoners of war and Armenian interned persons and prisoners to be collected in Constantinople and handed over unconditionally to the Allies.

Immediate demobilisation of the Turkish Army, except for such troops as are required for frontiers and maintenance of internal order.

Surrender of all war vessels, except such small vessels required for police and similar purposes in Turkish territorial waters.

Allies to have the right to occupy any strategic point in the event of any situation arising which threatened the security of the Allies.

The use by Allied ships of all ports and anchorages now in Turkish occupation, and the denial of their use by the enemy.

Railways to be placed at the free and complete disposal of Allied troops.

Due consideration to be given to the needs of the population. This clause to include the occupation of Batoum.

Turkey to raise no objection to the occupation of Baku by the Allies.

Surrender of all garrisons in Hedjaz, Assir, Yemen, Syria, and Mesopotamia, and the withdrawal of troops from Cilicia, except those necessary to maintain order.

The surrender of all Turkish officers in Tripolitania and Cyrenaica, and of all posts occupied by these.

All Germans and Austrians to be evacuated from the Turkish dominions.

Turkish prisoners to be kept at the disposal of the Allies.

Obligations on the part of Turkey to cease all relations with the Central Powers.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER.

Reuter's Agency learns from an authoritative source that the terms of the armistice with Turkey constitute complete and unconditional surrender. It is absolutely untrue that there is any secret understanding behind the armistice terms. There is no agreement of any sort or kind. The Turks have been defeated, and have accepted conditions of complete surrender. In competent quarters the terms of the armistice are considered very satisfactory. It contains no territorial provisions, and only provides for the actual needs of the moment. Everything else is matter for the Peace Conference, but it may be pointed out that any suggestion of Turkish sovereignty over any of the liberated populations would be regarded with the greatest disfavour. The armistice is of enormous importance from the point of view of prosecuting the war against Germany, and the entry into the Black Sea will make an immense difference in the Russian, as well as in the Rumanian, situation. As the terms of the armistice actually came into force yesterday, there is no reason why the Allied Fleet should not be off Constantinople at any moment.

THE AMERICAN FRONT.

AERIAL ACTIVITY.

Mr. Maximilian Foster, Correspondent with the American Army in France, in a message dated Friday, writes:—On the American front the enemy is showing considerable activity in the air. The number of his planes is increasing daily. Some half dozen circuses have been identified, but so far the Americans are neither outnumbered nor out-manœuvred. Apparently the enemy is living in a state of nervous apprehension. Despite his activity we carried out successful bombing operations against roads and ammunition dumps, and shot down seven enemy machines yesterday without loss. The American planes also are able to continue their observation and photographic work. In recent fighting two Americans succeeded in bringing down two circus-flyers out of 18 enemy planes which attacked them and escaped. One anti-aircraft gun shot down two enemy machines in a single afternoon. Captain Rickenbacker gained his 24th victory. Aside from artillery firing, which was particularly heavy between Aincreville and the Bois de Bantheville, there was little activity on land. We drove the enemy from Brieulles village. The enemy's firing is increasing in the number of dud shells, either from shortage of a better variety, or else the shortage of some essential material. The Germans attempted a counter-attack after one of our raids, which cost them seventy prisoners, but they were easily repulsed. A captured document answering an appeal from tired divisions to be relieved, says that:—"If taken out of their present position they only will be thrown in elsewhere." The document ends with an appeal to the division to hold on at all costs.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

CRASH OF TWO EMPIRES.

Whatever is yet to come before the colossal drama of the war's ending is played out, says the Daily Telegraph, we shall scarcely see such another week of history as this which now draws to a close. The crash of two Empires still numbs the ear. Only a week ago, and less than that, not one of the decisive things facing us now was immediately in prospect as far as the public knew. But it has always been said that when the break came there would be nothing leisurely or gentle about the consequences. That is why we doubt if the last remaining resistance can be much prolonged.

A REAL PERIL.

While Austria's collapse is of value to the Allies as effecting the final isolation of Germany, it cannot be forgotten, says the Daily News, the transition from tyranny to democracy is one thing, and the transition from tyranny to anarchy another. There is a very real peril of the dissolution of both Central Empires into a welter of Bolshevism and bloodshed. The business of the Allies is to give every support in their power to the new National Councils already established by the now liberated nationalities.

COMING OF PEACE.

In order that peace may not find us unprepared, says the Parliamentary Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, a Ministerial Committee has been formed to deal with the subject of demobilisation, and is now meeting every working day. The Cabinet have decided to appoint a Director of Demobilisation, who will be charged with the duty of organising the arrangements for the transfer of industries from a war to a peace basis, and facilitating the return of soldiers to employment. It is expected that before the life of this Parliament closes it will be invited to adopt an address of thanks to our sailors and soldiers and airmen for their valiant achievements on sea, on land, and in the air.

GERMANY ARRIVES AT "IMPORTANT DECISION."

A telegram from Berlin states that during the past few days the War Cabinet has held long meetings, and has arrived at an important decision, not, however, concerning the armistice. Professor Hans Delbrueck, Chief of the Kaiser's Civil Cabinet, and the Imperial Chancellor have left for General Headquarters on an important mission.

FATE OF THE KAISER.

CALLS FOR ABDICATION.

An Exchange Copenhagen telegram of Thursday's date says:—Highly-placed German officials here this afternoon have received information that the Kaiser has abdicated. Nothing, however, is said about the Crown Prince. The above is given with all reserve, there being no confirmation.

Vorwaerts to-day publishes a sensational article under the headline, "What Will the Kaiser Do?" The paper openly demands the resignation of Kaiser William and the Crown Prince, and asks, "When will he resign?"

The Leipziger Volkszeitung announces that the Independent Socialists all over Germany are going to start a wholesale agitation for the immediate abdication of the Kaiser, the dismissal of Hindenburg, and the withdrawal of the commands of the Crown Prince and Prince Rupprecht.

The Cologne Gazette announces that the Political Department of General Headquarters of the German Army has been suppressed. It was created by Ludendorff to enable him to hold all the political threads in his hands, and was managed by Ludendorff's Pan-German advisers, who have been sent back to Berlin already.

ABDICATION ONLY A MATTER OF DAYS.

Mr. George Renwick, Special Correspondent of the Daily Chronicle at Amsterdam, wired last night:—Private advices from Germany declare the abdication of the Kaiser to be a matter of days. I learn that in the Reichstag, and in financial circles, it is regarded as certain that he will go. Despite what is happening elsewhere, what the Kaiser will do is the question of the moment in Berlin, and I am told that not only has he a very bad Press, as I have already pointed out, but that he has, too, a very bad public. His Majesty, it appears, has been in Berlin several weeks, and Berlin scarcely knew it. He has avoided all appearances in public, and at last he slipped off to Imperial Headquarters again at the dead of night. People who come from Germany tell me that public opinion is overwhelmingly against him, and that anti-Kaiser sentiments, couched in bitter, and even violent terms, are very common at meetings and demonstrations.

NEW DEPUTY LIEUTENANTS FOR GALWAY.

The name of Mr. W. H. G. Eyre, of Eyrecourt Castle, should have been included in the list (published yesterday) of Deputy Lieutenants for Co. Galway, recently appointed by Lord Killanin, H.M.L. for the county.

PRIMARY EDUCATION COMMITTEE.

The Primary Education Committee met on Thursday at Leinster House. Lord Killanin, Chairman, presided. Mr. H. M. Pollock, Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, Belfast, and Mr. H. McCarthy, Secretary School Attendance Committee, Dublin, gave evidence. The Committee adjourned until the 19th of November.

DR. KATHLEEN LYNN'S ARREST.

Before her release, Dr. Kathleen Lynn signed an undertaking that she would take no part in politics, directly or indirectly, and would remain in the Dublin Metropolitan Police Area.

UNITED COMMUNION SERVICE.

The members of the Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregational Churches in Kingstown will partake together of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the close of the United Service to be held in the Presbyterian Church, York road, to-morrow evening at 7 o'clock.

Zenana Bible Medical Mission—A sale of work, country produce, provisions, etc., was held in Mills' Hall, Merrion row, yesterday afternoon in aid of the funds of the Zenana Bible Medical Mission, and was well supported by the many friends of the mission.

THE RED CROSS PAGEANT.

THE STORY OF ITS SUCCESS.

The Committee who organised the Red Cross Pageant in Dublin desire in the heartiest manner to thank the many friends to whose generous co-operation and practical help the Pageant owes its unqualified success. The undertaking was a somewhat ambitious one for busy workers, and its object was two-fold—first and chiefly, to bring as vividly as possible before the Dublin public what the Red Cross means and what it accomplishes for our sick and wounded kinsmen engaged in defending the homeland; and, secondly, to afford the passer-by an opportunity of contributing to the cause. Both of these objects were fully achieved. Tens of thousands of Dublin's citizens thronged the thoroughfares, and their attitude throughout was most sympathetic and appreciative. Moreover, their offerings were generous.

Foremost among the helpers was the management of the Theatre Royal, Mr. Hamilton having kindly placed at the disposal of the Committee not only valuable material, but also the splendid services of their scenario artist, Mr. Hicks, who designed and completed several of the tableaux of the chief feature of the Pageant, "From the Battlefield to Blighty." The fallen soldier on "no man's land," "The Dug-Out First-Aid Post," "The Advanced Dressing-Station," and the "Prisoners of War" tableaux were all Mr. Hicks's handiwork. One of the most striking of the tableaux was the "Hospital Ship," designed with astonishing elaboration of detail. This was produced by Mr. Small, scenic artist of the Empire Theatre, introduced to the Committee by Mr. Armstrong, whose advice and help were freely given. Mr. Gordon Seifridge, Oxford street, London; Messrs. Switzer and Co., Dublin; Miss Wilson, Girls' High School, Wellington place; and the Commissioners of Irish Lights sent generous contributions of flags and bunting. As has already been stated, an order to a London firm for the hire of flags shared the fate of the R.M.S. Leinster, but, thanks to these donors, the Pageant suffered no loss thereby.

Most artistic and attractive was the "Vegetables for the Fleet" tableau, designed and completed by Sir Frederick Moore, the distinguished head of the Royal Botanic Gardens. There is no more worthy civilian war effort than that of supplying the men of His Majesty's Fleet with vegetables. Few people know that not a week passes that a consignment is not despatched to the silent Navy by Sir Frederick Moore's Committee, and that upwards of £7,000 worth has been despatched from Dublin during the progress of the war. The American Red Cross tableau was prepared by Lady Decies and her helpers. Both useful and ornamental was the beautifully decorated tram-car, which preceded the procession. This was kindly placed at the disposal of the Committee by the Dublin United Tramways Company. The Royal Irish Automobile Club supplied a fine contingent of ambulance cars, and the turn-out of the Dublin Corporation Fire Brigade was much appreciated.

The lorries that composed the Pageant, as well as the horses and drivers, were provided by Messrs. John Wallis and Sons, Bachelor's Walk; Messrs. Arthur Guinness and Son, and Messrs. Heiton and Co. All these appeared cap-a-pie at Lord Iveagh's premises, Earlsfort terrace, where they were gaily decorated by Mrs. Harry Jackson and her band of workers. These formed the out-standing features of the Red Cross Pageant. What of the accessories, the music, and the aeroplanes? The bands of the Berkshires and the Royal Irish Constabulary were a glory in themselves. That of the D.M.P. was absent owing only to the fact that the majority of the musicians were stricken with the prevailing epidemic. The airmen descended from the clouds to engage the attention of the populace during the trying moments when the tableaux were arranging themselves in marching order.

It is, indeed, impossible to mention in a thanksgiving article like this one-quarter of the voluntary contributors to the Pageant. Many of these are anonymous, including some gallant soldiers whose help was invaluable. One of the most difficult tasks was allotted to Miss Somerville—that of letting windows, kindly lent by Dublin merchants along the line of route, and of filling the programme with advertisements. No professional man could have performed this with greater success, a fact well known to the Red Cross Funds Treasurer. The workers of the Irish War Hospital Supply Depôt, 40 Merrion square, and of the Central Red Cross Workrooms, 64 Merrion square, furnished one of the most interesting of the tableaux, with specimens of their work.

The special thanks of the Committee are due, among many others, to the following:—Messrs. I. Varian and Co.; Messrs. Fannin and Co.; the Boys' Brigade, under the command of Messrs. Kerford and Foxall; the Girl Guides, under Mrs. A. F. Dixon, M.A., Commissioner for Dublin; the Boy Scouts, under Mr. Quan-Smith; Mr. Edward Watson, the Irish Times, Alderman Kelly, Colonel De Courcy Wheeler, the Misses McConnell, Mr. Grandy, Messrs. Jacob and Co., whose gift of 200 tin collecting boxes was most highly appreciated; Mrs. Salmon, Alderman Moran, Mrs. Westby, Mr. Balfe, Miss Trueman, Mrs. French (St. Anne's), Mr. W. P. Geoghegan, Mrs. Ross, Mr. Cleary, Mrs. Louis Smith, etc., all of whom rendered excellent service.

FUNERAL OF MR. JOSEPH M. SIMINGTON.

The funeral of Mr. Joseph M. Simington, eldest son of Mr. John J. and Mrs. Simington, was held yesterday morning at Glasnevin Cemetery. The circumstances of Mr. Joseph Simington's death have created the utmost sympathy with his parents and friends in their bereavement. He was only 19 years of age, and had been educated at Belvedere and Rosse Colleges, where he gave promise of a successful career, and attracted many friends by his uprightness and sweetness of character. Having left school, he was articled to Messrs. Stokes Brothers and Pim, accountants, of Dublin. During his service with them the still more urgent service of helping his country appealed to him, and he joined the Trinity College Officers' Training Corps. Afterwards he went to an Officers' Cadet battalion, and last week came home from England on short leave before being gazetted to a battalion of an Irish regiment. He contracted influenza, and after a brief illness died on Wednesday evening of pneumonia.

The funeral took place from Mr. J. J. Simington's residence, 255 North Circular road. There was a large attendance of friends—both those who had known the late Mr. Simington and those who were associated with his father by ties of friendship and business. An impressive feature of the funeral was a large detachment of the Trinity College Officers' Training Corps, which, under the command of Captain and Adjutant Cecil Robinson, attended to pay the last honour to their deceased comrade. Members of the detachment carried the coffin, draped in the Union Jack, from the house, and laid it in the hearse, and afterwards carried it from the hearse to the mortuary chapel in the cemetery, and thence to the grave. The detachment marched behind the hearse during the funeral journey.

The chief mourners were:—

John J. Simington, Robert C. Simington, John Simington, Thomas Simington, and Leo. Magrath.

At the cemetery the following clergy officiated in the mortuary chapel, and accompanied the remains to the graveside:—

Very Rev. J. J. O'Connell, C.M., Superior; Rev. E. Comerford, C.M., St. Peter's, Phibsborough; Rev. John Fahy, S.J., Rector, Belvedere College; Rev. J. Byrne, S.J.; Rev. M. Quinlan, S.J.; Rev. C. Molony, Rev. Father McDonald, C.C.

The detachment of the Trinity College Officers' Training Corps was constituted as follows:—

Captain Cecil Robinson, Adjutant; Sergt. Pigot, Sergt. Cody, Corpl. Jackson, Lance-Corpl. Crawford, Lance-Corpl. Strahan, Lance-Corpl. Heelan, Lance-Corpl. Barry, Lance-Corpl. Thompson, Lance-Corpl. Williams, and the following Cadets—Tipping, Ronan, Boxwell, Switzer, Hunter, Preston, Bateman, Williamson, Eyre, McDermott, Best, Graham, Collins, Calvert, Scott, Pickering, Howell, Hutton, Dunne, Reid, Lake, McCaughey, Dunlop, Coen, Barclay, Moriarty, Mahony, Carlyle, Wright, Wilson, Molony, Connell, Beatty, Walker, Atkinson, McNeill, Barrer, Shiel, Molloy, Martin, Milne, Stack, Stuart, Walmsey.

The following were among those who attended the funeral:—

Lotus

LOTUS Ltd are doing a number of things for men nowadays that will possibly interest women.

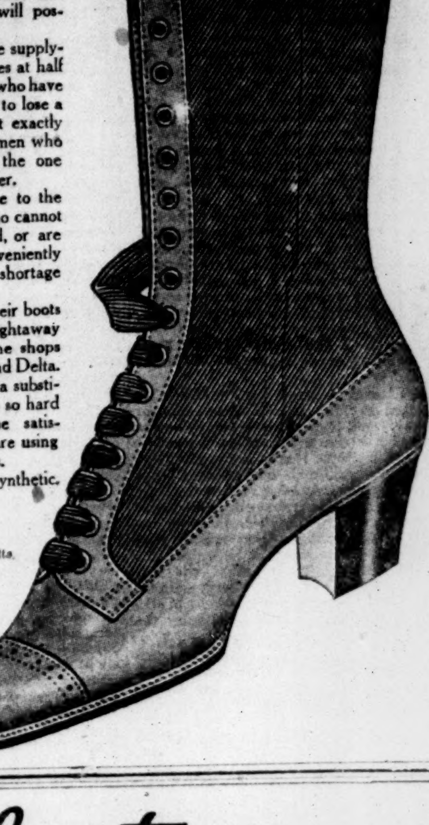

For example, they are supplying single boots and shoes at half the cost of a pair for men who have been so unfortunate as to lose a foot, and two singles at exactly the cost of a pair for men who have odd feet, that is, the one foot bigger than the other.

Also they have come to the rescue of those men who cannot get their boots repaired, or are having to wait an inconveniently long time, owing to the shortage of sole leather.

These men can get their boots and shoes repaired straightaway with synthetic soles at the shops appointed to sell Lotus and Delta.

Synthetic material is a substitute for leather and it is so hard wearing and otherwise satisfactory that Lotus Ltd are using it for making new boots.

Remember the name Synthetic.

MR. ASQUITH AND AUTOCRACY.

FATE OF THREE EMPERORS.

IRELAND AND SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Mr. Asquith, speaking at a demonstration in Glasgow last night, referred to the changes brought about by the war. The most striking, undoubtedly, is the collapse, complete and irreversible, of autocracy. (Cheers.) In Russia, Austria, and Germany the autocracy appeared to be rooted in the soil. Where are the three Emperors to-day? One of them—the Emperor of Russia—who, do not let us forget, was, so long as he sat on his throne, a good and faithful Ally of ours in the war—has been deposed and murdered by his people. Another, the Austrian, is to all intents and purposes, a regal waif and stray. The third—at that time the most formidable figure of them all—is said to be hovering on the verge of abdication. These, I repeat, whatever may be the terms of peace, are thrones which cannot be rebuilt. There is no reason why the League of Nations which will be the outcome of the war should not embrace all free Governments, be they monarchies or republics, or any other development which, for aught we know, may be in the womb of time. (Cheers.) But there is one thing which we may say with confidence. The war has buried beyond hope of resurrection autocracy and its satellite militarism. (Cheers.) There is not one of the smaller States who relied on us, and over whom we threw our shield, who will not find in the end that its thrust has been more than justified.

A LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

But do not let us be blind to the fact that the status and development of the new members, who will now be claiming admission to the European family of States, is one of the most anxious problems of the peace, and an additional reason for the setting up of a permanent League of Nations. (Cheers.) These are visible and certain results of the war. There are two instalments which we can at once pay on account. The first is to insist, as a primary and essential condition of any armistice, on the immediate restoration of all our prisoners in enemy camps, and on security for the condign punishment of those who can be proved to have been responsible for their maltreatment. (Cheers.) The second is that we should not only make adequate provision for the dependants of the dead and the permanently disabled, but devise such arrangements for the re-entry of our soldiers and sailors into civil and industrial life that it shall not be possible in the future, as unhappily it has been in the past, that a man should lose his livelihood, because he has risked his life for his country.

THE ALLIES' AIMS.

The general aims of the Allies may be summed up in two words, reparation and security. It is a question—nothing less—of placing the whole policy of the world on a sure foundation of righteousness and freedom. (Cheers.) Continuing, Mr. Asquith deprecated the notion that our energies should be counteracted by the artificial stimulus of a general election.

IRELAND AND SELF-GOVERNMENT.

He was glad that their Liberal organisations in England and Scotland were demanding the prompt concession of self-government to Ireland, for which Liberals had fought for the lifetime of a generation, and which, in principle, they had already placed on the Statute Book. With regard to an economic boycott, he read a recent declaration of President Wilson, and remarked—"If we are to have a general election, let there be no acquiescence in nebulous generalities in regard to this matter."

A vote of confidence in Mr. Asquith, and of thanks for his address, was afterwards passed.

CORK TRADERS AND AN IRISH SETTLEMENT.

Our Cork Correspondent telegraphed as follows last night:—A statement giving suggestions for Ireland's future settlement, signed by about 150 merchants and professional men of Cork, is appearing in to-morrow's issue of the Cork papers. The statement points out that the Convention arrived at a clear decision regarding proportional representation in the Legislature proposed to be set up, and they were prepared to accept the decision, and considered that it should be given a fair trial. If England would make a generous temporary grant for a period of ten years (independent of financial arrangements reasonable in all other respects), such a grant would be an important lever in bringing together various contending opinions in our country. The amount so provided could be utilised for development purposes, and the representatives of the people would feel that, with such a grant at their disposal, they could venture to develop the resources of Ireland with greater freedom and less fear of failure than would be the case if the struggle to develop them were accompanied by those penurious economic conditions which so often result in a dearth of effort. We desire to express our emphatic opinion, the statement concludes, that we should hold Ireland undivided, and that we should together stand or fall by any arrangement which may be made.

IRISH WARE POTATOES.

The Food Controller has fixed the price for all ware potatoes exported from Ireland to England and elsewhere during November and December at £6 10s. per ton, free alongside agreed ports, for approved varieties. It is expected that the whole exportable surplus of Irish potatoes will be required by the Allied Armies.

RISE IN GOLD.

We are paying greatly increased prices for all kinds of Gold (including broken articles), Jewellery, Diamonds, Watches, Old False Teeth, Antique or Modern Silver. We pay the best prices in Ireland, so sell to us if you wish to get full benefits of war prices. Country parcels sent by registered post, cash by return. Parcels returned if offer not accepted. # INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC.

MEDICAL EXPERT'S VIEWS.

The influenza epidemic still rages in Dublin, but there is a general hope among medical men that the next few days will show a diminution in its severity.

A prominent medical official of the Local Government Board in an interview with our representative yesterday, said that, though the question of vaccination was still in a purely experimental state, there was good reason to believe that before long a vaccine would be found which would ensure greater immunity from influenza. He added that at the present time every pathologist in the United Kingdom was at work on the matter.

Referring to the memorandum recently issued by the Local Government Board and the suggestions contained in it with respect to vaccination, the official said that this document contained the most up-to-date information obtained from the best scientific authorities. There was no reason to doubt that good results had been brought about in numbers of influenza patients from the employment of vaccination.

Asked as to whether he thought the epidemic was abating, the official replied that from the reports which had been received from medical inspectors in the country the Local Government Board had reason to think that it was. Some districts which were badly stricken a fortnight ago were now fairly free, except in such cases where the after effects of the disease had not quite disappeared.

Speaking of the action of the Local Government Board, the official said that it had, through its inspectors, and by the issuing of certain instructions and advice, done all that it possibly could do. Their procedure had been just the same as the English Board. "This Board," he said, "has no statutory power to prohibit by order the opening of places of public amusement or of public worship, but it has advised their temporary closing where the circumstances appeared to warrant such a course."

SIR CHARLES CAMERON'S BULLETIN.

According to the statement yesterday of Sir Charles Cameron, a decided decline is shown in the number of cases. A deputation, representing 50 cinema theatres in the city, informed him that in no case had a member of any of their staffs been affected by the disease. The members of the deputation had given him the undertaking that no children would be admitted to their theatres.

Dr. T. J. Browne, Medical Inspector of the L.G.B., considers that the worst phase of the epidemic is past. The pneumonia troubles which developed in so many cases had, in his opinion, arisen from the patients going out before completely convalescent.

The men of the D.M.P. have been badly hit by the epidemic, 210 men of the force being at present indisposed. Eight deaths have occurred amongst them during the past three weeks, a young station-sergeant named Clinton, succumbing to the malady yesterday. He leaves a wife and seven children.

Practically every hospital has its medical and nursing staff reduced as a result of the prevailing illness. In St. Vincent's and the Richmond Hospitals there have been deaths among the nursing staffs.

POSTPONED.

Haydn's "Creation," which was to have been sung in the Centenary Church, St. Stephen's Green, on Monday evening, has been postponed.

The re-opening of St. Andrew's College has been postponed till 11th inst.

Miss Jean Nolan's song recital, arranged for Wednesday next at the Abbey Theatre, has been postponed.

BELFAST CORPORATION AND STREET CLEANERS' STRIKE.

At the meeting of the Belfast Corporation reference was made to the comparative immunity of the city from the epidemic. The death rate was exceptionally low. Councillor Jameson said the Public Health Committee, in not arranging for a settlement of the strike of street cleaners, was gambling with the health of the city, which at present was the most unsanitary city in Europe.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE PROVINCES.

The epidemic in the provinces, though in some centres still very severe, seems generally to have assumed a more favourable aspect. In Athlone, however, there are over 200 cases, and a large number is under treatment at Tuam. In the first-named place all theatres and amusement halls are, for the military, out of bounds. The epidemic continues in Tipperary, where the local hospital is full, and the Petty Sessions had to be adjourned owing to the illness of witnesses and police.

In Portadown the Urban Council have commended the day and Sunday schools closed for a fortnight. Over twenty nurses are suffering from the epidemic in Cork and Shannon Infirmary; and one of two persons summoned at Newbridge Sessions for driving without a permit, died before the hearing of the charge.

PARTICULARS.

The Lands are situate in the fertile Bride Valley, the River forming portion of Southern Boundary; enjoying a never failing water supply and a southern aspect. Divided into safely enclosed fields of useful sizes, and splendidly sheltered by valuable hedgerow and other gross timber. Possessing the advantage of proximity to the leading Fairs and Markets of Fermoy, Lismore, Tallow, Youghal, and Midleton, the two former Towns being Stations on the Rosslare Route. Fine facilities for disposal of Farm Produce and Live Stock are thereby offered in the local or cross Channel markets.

CASTLEVIEW is separated from GLENATORE UPPER by the old road from Fermoy to Tallow, and both holdings being suitably equipped with Buildings, may be worked as distinct farms, or as heretofore, as one. The Mansion, which is situate on the Castleview division, is reached from the road by a well designed avenue through the beautiful lawn enriched by stately conifers and hard woods of huge growth.

The handsome portico entrance to the Mansion opens on a spacious Main Hall with Inner Hall, giving access to principal staircase, 3 reception rooms, billiard, smoke and morning rooms; those with other Apartments have marble chimney pieces and corniced ceilings. The other Apartments on the ground level include 2 large kitchens, with ranges, wine cellar, pantries, etc. There are 10 bedrooms, 4 servants' rooms, sanitary arrangements and piped water supply.

In the Court-yard immediately to rear are coachhouse or garage, with 3 rooms over, stalls for 6 horses, with galleried hay loft above, harness room, coal cellars, etc. The walled-in Gardens are well stocked with choice fruit trees, large glass-house and artistically designed conservatory.

The other Buildings on this portion comprise farmyard, with steward's house and stable and dairy yard, and dairyman's house, both having independent entrances, 3 gate lodges and 3 workmen's cottages. The Mansion is charmingly situated on a wooded eminence, commanding delightful views of the Bride Valley and neighbouring country, which present features of exquisite scenic beauty and historic interest. The Castleview Lands are almost entirely enclosed by high masonry walls fringed by unusually well grown timber, which, with the various clusters of trees on the extensive lawn and adjoining portions, impart a charming park-like character of sylvan beauty, all tendering Castleview an ideal place of residence, and one affording full scope for extensive and varied agricultural operations, in addition to the sporting advantages of location on a famous fishing river and in a celebrated Hunting District.

Glenatore Upper, containing over 173 acres, suitably divided, well fenced, timbered, and watered, has a commodious range of Farm Buildings, consisting of 15 cattle feeding houses, cow house for 25 cows, stables for 6 horses, large lofted barn, hay or root house, shed, dwellinghouses, 2 workmen's cottages; and there is also let under yearly tenancy a Cottage with garden at £2 per annum.

Glenatore forms, if worked independently, a well equipped Farm of most useful area; or if worked in conjunction with Castleview, as formerly, would constitute a residential property affording most unusual opportunities for extensive agricultural operations, Stock Raising and Dairy Farming.

The Auctioneers most cordially invite inspection of the Lands, Mansion, and other Buildings. Cards to view Mansion may be had from the Solicitors or Auctioneers.
